

FILES ACROSS U. S.; 18 HOURS

MAUGHAN GOES GOTHAM-FRISCO IN SINGLE DAY

Third Down to Dusk Trial Success.

San Francisco, Cal., June 23.—Lieut. Russell Maughan, United States army aviator, circled upward over Mitchell field, Minn., Long Island, at 3 o'clock this morning, just as the first pink of dawn showed in the eastern skies over the Atlantic.

This evening at 9:48, as the last gray of twilight faded out of the western skies above the Pacific, he swooped down on Crissy field here.

He had crossed the continent in 21 hours and 48 minutes. His actual flying time was 18 hours and 20 minutes. The flight was all the more remarkable because he had flown alone, no assistant or mechanic being carried.

It was Maughan's third attempt at crossing America in a day. On the last previous one illness compelled him to quit just west of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Log of the Trip.

The record of Lieut. Maughan's trip is shown in the following table:

Distance	Average speed	Time, flying	Time, on ground	Total
San Francisco to Dayton, 572	4:35	144.40	1:10	145.50
Dayton to St. Joseph, 337	3:37	141.00	1:10	142.10
St. Joseph to St. Louis, 225	1:57	156.80	1:10	157.90
St. Louis to Chicago, 225	1:18	172.80	1:10	173.90
Chicago to Baltimore, 255	2:18	170.40	1:10	171.50
Baltimore to New York, 275	2:37	165.30	1:10	166.40
Total	2,550	18:20	10:30	28:50

Time consumed at the various stops was: Dayton, 1 hour 10 minutes; St. Joseph, 45 minutes; North Platte, 23 minutes; Cheyenne, 29 minutes; Salt Lake, 21 minutes.

Behind Schedule He Set.

Lieut. Maughan did not quite equal the schedule he had set for himself. He had hoped to arrive before sunset, but, with terrific headwinds in the east and middle west, he had to hold him back. The wind was so strong that he had to make a detour to the west, and it was not until 11:30 p. m. that he reached New York.

The young army officer—a youth from Utah—had proved two things. One was that perfect manhood could accomplish the seemingly impossible. The other was that in the air service is vitally interested in the speed with which an air force can be mobilized at a distant point in case of a sudden enemy invasion.

Thousands Wait for Him.

Thousands waited to greet Maughan at his arrival. At dusk a battery of huge army searchlights were set up. Three of them sent their beams across the landing field, and the beam of light straight into the heavens, to lose itself in a glowing ball in a high mist bank.

Every ear was strained for the first time of Maughan's motor. At last there came the roar of the engine. The three caught the first whispering buzz of it.

"He's coming," went the shout from mouth to mouth, and soon there went up a mad symphony of cheering and song.

And then he flashed into view. Through the vertical beams that had guided him to the field, the air plane came. For an instant it gleamed there in the sky. Once, twice, the roaring, whistling streak circled the field. It whirled through the glare of the searchlights that flooded the landing field. Then it vanished into the blackness of the night, and the northwestern corner of the field.

Makes a Nest Landing.

And then he landed. As next a landing as any flyer could make under the most perfect conditions of daylight and smooth air. It was a magnificent feat. Just at the edge of the field, in the full illumination of the blinding searchlights.

Lieut. Col. William E. Gilmore, the commanding officer of Crissy field, was the first person alongside Maughan's plane after he landed. Maughan, tired and weary, was snapped to attention toward his superior officer and at once obeyed his order to "taxi" his plane to the corner of the field, in front of the executive office building.

While guards clubbed their way through mad throngs with the butts of their rifles, Maughan slowly drove his plane up the field. Then he stood up, bowed joyfully, and yelled:

"Well, I had a wonderful time!"

Maughan reached into a small compartment behind his seat and drew out letters from New York officials in the city, from eastern army officers, and passed them to waiting reporters.

Storm Victim. Capt. Murphy of Engine No. 72 electrocuted or killed by lightning.

FRED W. UPHAM FORCED TO TAKE LONG VACATION

Fred W. Upham, former treasurer of the Republican national committee, has been persuaded by his associates in the Consumers' company, of which he is president, to drop for three months his manifold business and political activities and take a much needed vacation in Adirondacks, it became known yesterday.

For several months members of Mr. Upham's family and his intimate friends have been convinced he was badly in need of a complete rest, it is said. But the importunities of his physician, of Mrs. Upham and of his friends until several days ago proved unavailing. Mr. Upham persisted in clinging to his desk.

Mr. Upham last night, however, said that he was taking a vacation from the business duties because of poor health, which also had forced him to relinquish the chairmanship of the Republican national committee.

"I expect to resume my active duties as president of the Consumers' company in the fall," Mr. Upham added.

Mr. Upham will spend a few days at his summer home at Glen View, Ill., before departing for the Adirondacks early next week.

A rumor that the Consumers' company is soon to undergo a reorganization program was denied.

Pay-Me-or-Die Letter Sent to Edward Hines

Edward Hines, millionaire lumberman, is the latest victim of blackmail letter writers.

A demand for $20,000, threatening his life if he failed to comply with instructions, was received through the mails at Mr. Hines' Evanston home Saturday.

The writer designated himself "A Heartless Man," ordered that the money in five, ten and twenty dollar notes be wrapped up and buried in a cinder pile at a specific spot on the northwest side.

"I am dying of tuberculosis," the writer stated, "I have only 40 days to live. My room is a prison, so what's the difference?"

Threatens Death.

Then he demanded that the money be placed in the cinder pile and the cinders "tramped down" between "now and July 22," and continued:

"I have tried out my revolver. It is working well, and I will kill you if you do not do as I say."

The letter was delivered at the Hines home by the postman Saturday morning, together with another containing rambling anarchistic verse berating "Capital."

Mr. Hines, who has been ill, was not informed of them. A servant took them from the postman, Mrs. Hines intercepted them before they reached the lumberman's sick chamber, and called in one of Mr. Hines' attorneys for advice.

Turned Over to Hughes.

The lawyer turned them over to Chief of Detective Michael Hughes at the bureau last night. Detectives under orders to maintain the utmost secrecy were assigned at once to attempt to trace the identity of the writer.

Chief Hughes is said to have been inclined to believe the letters the work of cranks who have been writing other letters to wealthy Chicagoans since the Franka case developed. As a matter of precaution, however, it was stated, the chief immediately started an investigation.

Name Selected by Lot.

An ingenious method of choosing his victim was revealed by the writer. He stated he made his demand on Mr. Hines because it had fallen to the lumberman's lot.

"I took the names of ten wealthy men," the miscreant stated in effect. "I wrote them on slips of paper, put

HOW 'BOUT US? FARMERS ASK WARRING DEMS.

Only Problem Isn't Klan, They Warn.

W-G-N (formerly WDAF) The Tribune's radio station located on the Drake hotel, will broadcast the entire proceedings of the Democratic national convention. Tune in on a wave length of 370 meters at 11 o'clock this morning for the opening of the convention.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

TRIBUNE Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—[Special.]—Farmer delegates began to kick up a little dirt today in an effort to pierce the Klan obsession that has settled over the convention, and lift the minds of their brother delegates to some of what they call the real problems that involve the winning of the west to the Democratic banner.

When the Klan dust settles here will be found the only other issue which presents serious difficulties to the resolutions committee.

The league of nations and the wet and dry fights seem to have faded away. In these matters the Democrats probably will emerge on a line that will parallel the Republican platform. On the world court the Democrats are not far from President Coolidge. On the wet issue, a plain law enforcement plank is expected.

Can't Sidetrack Farmers.

The farmers, however, are not to be easily satisfied. They are not certain as to just what they want, but it will be more than the Republicans gave them at Cleveland. It will be definite and will be called "radical" by the conservatives of the party.

"Those who think that the government clerks only around New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Ohio are badly mistaken," Gov. William E. Sweet of Colorado told a delegation of farmers who are anxious to unite on a definite program.

"They have got to listen to us. Never before has the farmer been so alive to the iniquities of high tariff. If we do not condemn this now we will go down to defeat. This, with the corruption at Washington, going almost to the doors of the White House, make the two great issues. We must adopt a constructive platform that will carry the west and the southwest, or we cannot win."

Carl Vrooman Is Chairman.

Carl Vrooman of Illinois, former assistant secretary of agriculture, called the conference at which a committee was appointed to draw up a farm plank for consideration tomorrow. Mr. Vrooman is chairman of this committee. Other members are Gov. Sweet, Gov. Jonathan Davis of Kansas, "the dirt farmer candidate for President," Gov. Charles Bryan of Nebraska, and L. B. McGovern of Alabama.

Gov. Davis said the Republicans had left the field open to the right kind of a farm resolution. He lamented the plight of the farmer and said that any industry that was not basic and did not have the producer spirit back of it would have been destroyed utterly.

"The low purchasing power of the dollar of the farmer is the real problem," he said. "He can be made to work for nothing, but he cannot be made to like it."

Wants a Fair Break.

"Equal rights should be granted to all, special privileges to none. I would be glad to see a resolution so plain that the people could understand it. We must give the farmer the rights commerce has."

There are four elements in the situation. These are:

"Reduction of governmental expenditures and taxes.

"Adjustment of transportation rates."

"Adjustment of interest rates."

"Reduction of the tariff."

The foreign phase is interlocked with the rehabilitation of international relations."

Deflation Called "Blunder."

Senator Robert L. Owens of Oklahoma, who has made a study of cooperative marketing in Europe, spoke of the deflation of credit and currency under the Republican administration as an "unspeakable blunder," but he said he would not ascribe sinister motives to those who brought this about. Between 1920 and 1922, he said, five and a half billions in loans and discounts were cut off.

The question of the part the federal reserve bank, founded by the Democrats, played in this deflation, was put (Continued on page 4, column 3.)

Illinois Picks Brennan for Big Committee

BY PARKE BROWN.

TRIBUNE Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—[Special.]—Presidential Candidate Dever of Chicago was kept under blankets this afternoon when the Illinois delegation, surrounded by about half of the 300 convention visitors from that state, met for the purposes of organization.

Technically it was a caucus to select the state's spokesman on convention committees and in similar activities, but as a matter of fact it was a George E. Brennan love feast. It was Brennan as both chairman of the delegation and as the new national committeeman by unanimous vote, and there was some suspicion that Mr. Brennan had had something to say about the other selections made.

But expectations that the Dever presidential boom would be proclaimed formally at this opportunity were disappointed. The Chicago mayor was called upon, but his remarks dealt solely with his present office and contributed to the love feast with a tribute to his leadership.

Brennan Gets Two Offices.

The full roster of those elected by the delegation follows:

Chairman—George E. Brennan, Chicago.

Secretary—Timothy J. Crowe, Chicago.

Honorary vice chairman—Justice Floyd E. Thompson, Rock Island.

Honorary secretary—Lewis G. Stevenson, Bloomington.

National committeeman—George E. Brennan, Chicago.

National committeewoman—Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Chicago.

Committee on resolution—Francis X. Busch, Chicago.

Committee on rules—Michael L. Igoe, Chicago.

Committee on credentials—Frank J. Wise, Joliet.

Committee on permanent organization—John McKelligott, Shawneetown.

Committee to notify presidential nominees—William H. Warder, Marion.

Committee to notify vice presidential nominees—Mrs. Sarah Bond Hanley, Monmouth.

Election Surprises Mrs. Fairbank.

The election of Mrs. Fairbank came as a surprise to her, as nothing was said to her before the meeting by any of the leaders to indicate that she had been slated for the national committee. And it was brought about on the floor in a most graceful manner. After Brennan had expressed his regret that Mrs. Anna L. Smith, committeewoman for the last four years, felt her health forced her retirement, Mrs. Smith rose to thank him and then placed Mrs. Fairbank in nomination with words of praise. Then after Mrs. Fairbank had been elected unanimously Mrs. Smith presented her to the delegation.

Enthusiasm was high at this moment, but it did not reach its full altitude until a little later, when Chairman Brennan called for nominations for national committeemen. So far as anybody at any distance in the crowd could tell there had been no name placed in nomination when Charles Boeschstein arose to "second the nomination of Mr. Brennan."

Mr. Boeschstein, Humorist.

Later it was asserted that someone down in the first row, without rising from his chair, had nominated the "Big Chief," but among about 490 of the 500 crowded into the ballroom of the Pennsylvania hotel, Mr. Boeschstein had established a lasting reputation as a humorist of the first water.</ metropolis by the thousands, on special trains, in special cars and marching through the town behind brass bands and under their Jeffersonian and Jacksonian banners, with phalanxes of cheering life-long Democrats in chimney pot hats and Prince Alberts tightly buttoned over older man's paunches, riding and walking through the ranks of staring spectators. They are nearly all here now and the scraping will begin without further delay.

When the Old Guard strategy board adjourned for the night and George Brennan of Illinois, Tom Taggart of Indiana, Ed Moore of Ohio, Joe Guffy of Pennsylvania, Frank Hague of New Jersey, and Norman Mack of New York headed for the hay the outlook was pronounced satisfactory by the chiefs who are fighting McAdoo. It was said that in this session, after checking over the reports on the arriving delegations, Brennan turned to his colleagues and said:

"We have McAdoo stopped. He will not last fifteen ballots."

First Time He Has Predicted.
This was the first time that Brennan, the general of the anti-McAdoo forces, ever had stated what he really thinks as to the chances of success in this particular, but there is reason to believe he does not really expect the nomination of Smith and that the platform is a compromise on John W. Davis, Silas, Ritchie, or Mayor Dever of Chicago.

Brennan is convinced that McAdoo has been ruined by the klan issue and is beginning to think that Senator Underwood of Alabama, the first candidate to assail the klan, may have a chance for the nomination after all, particularly if the convention should adopt a strong anti-klan platform plank, as originally demanded by Underwood.

"McAdoo is through; there is no doubt of that now," said Ed Moore, the Cox leader from Ohio, as he came out of the conference of old guard leaders. "We are going to have a strong plank denouncing the klan by name also."

Strategy of Old Guard.
The strategy of the Old Guard is directed toward holding the favorite sons in the field indefinitely, those favorite sons whose delegations could put McAdoo over if they should forsake their local allegiance and climb onto the McAdoo bandwagon. It is vital to this strategy that Virginia should vote for Glass till Glass is eliminated, that Kansas should vote for Gov. Jonathan Davis, that Indiana should vote for Ralston, that Nebraska should vote for Gov. Charles Bryan, and so on down the list of the delegations on which McAdoo is depending to roll his vote up to the required two-thirds.

Virginia, thinks Glass has a chance for the nomination if McAdoo cannot win, and though favorable to McAdoo as second choice, will not go to him unless all hopes for Glass are dispelled. Indiana, however, will pursue a similar course in regard to Ralston, as will other states in which there is McAdoo sentiment, in regard to their favorite sons.

Brennan for Cook County.
Brennan is not interested in putting Ralston over. Ralston is a dry and is along in years, and Brennan, "his said, does not look on Ralston as the kind of a candidate who would help the local Cook county ticket. A boss may be pardoned if he has his eye on the local ticket. Otherwise he would not be a boss. Brennan thinks a wet like Al Smith would carry over the Democratic ticket in Cook county on a wave of enthusiasm.

His influence therefore was exerted in the direction of sidetracking Ralston and inducing the Indiana delegation to divide its support between recognized anti-McAdoo candidates, such as John W. Davis and ex-Gov. Cox of Ohio.

There is a good deal of Davis sentiment in the Indiana delegation but at the meeting of the Hoosier delegates today it was decided to take a strong stand from the start in support of Ralston. Taggart had advised keeping Ralston in the background at the beginning, not placing him in nomination formally and not even voting for him at first. He thought the better strategy would be to treat Ralston as a dark horse.

The delegation, however, decided otherwise. A formal nominating

NEW YORK HOSTS MARCH TO PUT AL IN WHITE HOUSE

Stars and Stripes and a Bit of Green in Line.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
TRIBUNE Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—[Special].—This was Al Smith day in New York and Al loved every hour of it, every block of its fifty blocks, every brass band of its fifty-four brass bands, and every marching municipal employee of its 25,000 municipal employees.

They called it "The Annual Parade of the Police, Fire, and Street Cleaning Department."

It was the epitome of Al, from its police and its fire engines and its departmental flags, which combined the colors of old Ireland, to its ballad booming bands, which turned 5th avenue, richest street in the world, into a cauldron of cheering and shouting.

Al was in the thick of it, saluted and cheered by everybody, and he sat, in a cauldron of cheering and shouting, in the cauldron of cheering and shouting, in the cauldron of cheering and shouting.

Al was in the thick of it, saluted and cheered by everybody, and he sat, in a cauldron of cheering and shouting, in the cauldron of cheering and shouting, in the cauldron of cheering and shouting.

Women Plan Convention Radio Parties at Homes

Three members of the Illinois Women's Democratic club have extended invitations to other members to come to their homes and listen in on Democratic national convention proceedings broadcast by radio.

The three are: Mrs. Philip P. Bregenton, 1209 East 53rd street; Mrs. T. K. Hedrick, 1416 Jonquil terrace, and Mrs. Dora Donahue, 1132 Loyola avenue. The president of the club, Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCullough, suggested that other Democratic radio owners be neighborly and invite their friends in.

NEW RAILROAD ROUTING GUIDE TO OUR NATIONAL PARKS.
The Guide to Our National Parks is the title of a booklet just published by the Chicago & North Western Ry. It is not a picture book, but is brimful of interesting information as to railroad routes and fares to Yellowstone, Rocky Mountain, Zion, Yosemite, Rainier, Glacier, and Mesa Verde National Parks, Canadian Rockies, Colorado, Utah, and the Black Hills. No one who is planning a trip to any of the National Parks should be without a copy, free upon application to C. A. Cairns, P. O. Box 1, C. & N. W. Ry., 226 W. Jackson St., Chicago—Adv.

It Was New York's Day.
Al Smith strode away to dress for the party that was to wind up his day—the day of the toasting flags and the blaring bands going full tilt from the Flatiron building on the south to way up past St. Patrick's cathedral on the north; the day of pagentry's most soothing music—the cluckety-cluck of the police horses' hoofs on the summer asphalt; the day of the rattle of applause dropping down thirty stories from crowded windows upon "The First," swinging along to the strains of "My Wild Irish Rose"; the day of a municipal esprit du corps so intense and joyous that the humblest street cleaner in the half mile of white cloth parade felt that he was "a New Yorker" first and a street cleaner second.

You Can't Get Away from Money

Some one said to us recently that there is hardly a phase of life that doesn't connect up eventually in some way with money and banking.

And it is true. A child born into a family affects the whole financial outlook of that family. When a person marries; when he gives to the church; when he goes to a movie or a ball game or any other paid amusement, or entertains in his own home; when he buys a newspaper or a house or a suit of clothes; when he is sick; or when he takes the time to paint a picture or write a book, he changes in some way his financial status. And no matter how he earns his money: whether he digs it out of the ground in the shape of wheat or ore; whether he manufactures lace, or propels a ship across the sea, or sits on a stool adding numbers, or lends credit to this man and then to that, he needs some kind of banking. Indeed, there isn't a stone road built, or a town church, or a frame house, or a street car, or an art museum, that some one hasn't saved and spent the money for it.

We in the Continental & Commercial Banks recognize this inseparable connection of banking with life as we live it today, and our whole purpose is to conduct our organization that we can give helpful and right banking service both to the man who is saving to educate his children, and to the man whose firm is shipping goods to every port in the world.

"Best Way to Handle It."
The compromise was the result, in rewriting it and boiling it down. Indiana delegation in the platform and it reaffirms the constitutional rights of religious and civil liberty. It does not mention the klan by name. Indiana is the northern state which the klan is greatest in number, power, and voting strength, and at recent Democratic state convention there was a fierce fight over strongly opposing the klan. "Invited hooded government" should be denounced.

COMPROMISE ON KLAN IS PLAN OF TAGGART, BRYAN

Offer Planks That Fail to Name the Society.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Taggart Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—(Special.)—Tom Taggart of Indiana and the Hoosier delegate tonight put forth a compromise plank dealing with the Klan to be used on the resolutions committee. It is a condensation of the lengthy declaration in the Indiana platform, and it reaffirms the constitutional rights of religious and civil liberty, but it does not mention the Klan by name. Indiana is the northern state in which the Klan is greatest in numbers, power, and voting strength, and at the recent Democratic state convention there was a fierce fight over how strongly and specifically the "invisible hooded government" should be denounced.

"Best Way to Handle It."

The compromise was the result, and it is rewriting it and bolting it down the Indiana delegation insists that it is the best method of treating the issue, and that Indiana ought to know, because it has to live closer to the Klan than other states.

The spirit of compromise, however, so far has not traveled far among those who want the platform to denounce the Klan by name. Connecticut this evening was at sixes and sevens over an anti-Klan plank. The row in this delegation served to toss another monkey wrench into the McAdoo engine.

Cummings Up Against It.

Cummings is one of McAdoo's chiefs and the action puts him in a sweet position. If he can talk his delegation out of the anti-Klan proposal the Smith men will have something to think about, while, if his persuasive powers do not turn the delegates, Cummings, as chairman of the platform committee, will be in the somewhat analogous position of being a McAdoo leader and sponsor of an anti-Klan plank. There was much merriment among the assembled Jeffersonians over Mr. Cummings' predicament.

So far, however, the anti-Klan issue has engulfed all else. It has even swallowed the "wet and dry" question. Two main questions are on every tongue as one circulates through the hotel corridors and among the delegations. They are:

"Where can a regular guy get a ticket?" "What are they going to do on Klan?"

Furious Battle in Prospect.

All signs point to a furious and prolonged fight on the Klan. It is planned to carry it through the resolutions committee and to the floor of the convention, and many of the leaders fear it means the engendering of hatreds and hostilities that may split the party. William Jennings Bryan came forth today in his usual role of peacemaker with a compromise anti-Klan plank. It was lifted from the 1898 platform and it reads:

"The constitution guarantees to every citizen the right of civil and religious liberty. The Democratic party has always been the exponent of political liberty and religious freedom and it renews its obligation and reaffirms its devotion to these fundamental principles of the constitution."

Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, one of the many candidates for President, also threw an anti-Klan plank on the fast mounting pile. The senator said he would present it to the resolutions committee, and if it fell down he would seek a showdown in the convention itself.

This Plank Names K.K.K.

The Underwood plank asserts the present situation is similar to that of 1864, when the party platform declared against the "Know-Nothings." It says: "We do reaffirm the principle set forth in said resolution of the Democratic platform of 1864, and do condemn as un-American and un-Democratic political action by secret, or quasi-secret, organizations in furtherance of any political objection whatsoever."

"In particular do we condemn such action for the purpose of proscribing the political rights and privileges of citizens of the United States as is now proposed, practiced and publicly acknowledged by the organization known as the Ku Klux Klan, and as may now, hereafter be proposed or practiced by any organization whatsoever."

DEMOCRATIC DARK HORSES

END DEADLOCK WITH RALSTON, INDIANA'S PLAN

Name to Be Placed in Nomination.

TRIBUNE Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—(Special.)—Confident that Senator Samuel M. Ralston can break the probable Smith-McAdoo deadlock in the Democratic national convention, Indiana delegates in caucus today determined to place him in nomination in the first roll call of states. The nominating speech will be made by one of Ralston's law partners, Frederick Van Nuys, former federal district attorney in Indianapolis.

A hurried canvass of the states' headquarters indicates, the Hoosiers claim, that Ralston is the second choice of a majority of delegates bound to Smith or McAdoo under the unit rule as well as others pledged to complimentary votes for favorite sons. Kentucky will flip from McAdoo to Ralston at the earliest opportunity, and similar assurances have been received by the Indiana delegates from a number of Florida delegates.

W. H. O'Brien, banker at Lawrenceburg, Ind., and former state auditor, was chosen as the delegation's member of the convention resolutions committee.

L. G. Ellingham was named as the Indiana member of the rules committee.

Iowa Oppose Unit Rule.

Iowa's twenty-six delegates, chafing, it is said, under the unit rule which ties them to McAdoo, will caucus tomorrow morning. McAdoo adherents in the group insist that at least eighteen of the delegation will ride to a finish with the former secretary of the treasury. The remaining eight will divide their votes between Ralston and Davis, with a vote or two, it is possible, for Smith.

J. Ray Filer of Fort Dodge was elected the Iowa member of the resolutions committee, and D. F. Steck of Ottumwa, representative on the rules committee, in a meeting of the group in Des Moines several weeks ago.

Wisconsin for Two-Thirds Rule.

Wisconsin's delegation in its caucus yesterday pledged itself to a vigorous denunciation of the Klan and the retention of the two-thirds rule. Among the twenty-six Badger delegates three are instructed for McAdoo and twenty-three for Smith.

The ballots on which we were chosen as delegates to this convention instructed us to vote for Smith and we will vote for Smith until he releases us," declared J. F. Callahan, chairman of the delegation and leader of the Smith contingent.

"After he releases us, we will continue to vote for Alfred E. Smith until he is nominated," continued Callahan, disposing of earlier reports that the delegation planned to switch to John W. Davis when the break comes. John S. Kluvin of Oshkosh was named to the resolutions committee.

PERCUSSION CAP BURNS BOY.

Twelve year old Eugene Shamer, 2126 Van Buren street, found a percussion cap yesterday and experimented on it with a hammer. He was taken to the county hospital suffering from arm and leg burns.

PUT IN A DAY AT "LAST DITCHING" IN McADOO CAMP

Ticket Bribery Charged Against His Foes.

BY ROBERT M. LEE.

TRIBUNE Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—(Special.)—Last ditching became the talk and chief industry of the McAdoo headquarters on this, the last day before the grand opening. Mr. McAdoo proclaimed himself a "last ditcher" in a speech at the Vanderbilt hotel, declaring that struggling with the enemy in the last ditch is his most zealous accomplishment, the battle for delegates grew hot and short of breath and resentment against New York critics rose to inarticulate screaming.

There are three high spots in the McAdoo quarters.

1. The generals feel they are campaigning in an impenetrable fogbank of propaganda for Smith and against McAdoo raised by the New York newspapers.

2. The generals feel that the enemy are proselyting with every means: convention tickets, liquid refreshment—anything to wean away McAdoo delegates.

3. The generals feel that the Klan issue is a vicious execration thrust into the campaign without warrant and they "suppose there will be a lot of planks offered."

Holding Out on Tickets.

But in spite of these inimical manifestations, the McAdoo generals are getting their teeth and snapping out sharp, short orders. The principal snap of orders for the day came from David Ladd Rockwell, manager of the McAdoo campaign.

"Here is one thing I don't understand," he exclaimed, with some asperity: "The whole McAdoo headquarters has been awarded only 200 tickets to the convention. How can we take care of anybody that way? Why, I have just heard that some of Senator Ralston's men were over here trying to get tickets. Can you imagine that? Ralston trying to get tickets from McAdoo?"

It may be interpolated here that spare tickets for the backhome delegates go a long way toward establishing an entente which may be turned into votes.

Hunting for Stray Votes.

And Mr. Rockwell continues: "They tell me that George Brennan has been awarded 500 more tickets. Can you beat that?"

And, by way of adding fuel to these flames, it is said round the hotel corridors that Al Smith's boys have been awarded 2,000 tickets. The suggestion is that they may find a stray delegate or two from the west who could use an extra ticket.

The ticket trouble is added to the talk that has been current for several days that all of Mr. Smith's southern-

SURPLUS FOR FISCAL YEAR MAY GO OVER HALF BILLION MARK

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(Special.)—Treasury and budget bureau officials today confirmed the estimate of $449,000,000 as the excess of receipts over expenditures for the current fiscal year, ending June 30, which was made public yesterday by Representative Madden (Rep. Ill.) chairman of the house committee on appropriations. It was indicated that both Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Director of the Budget Lord believe the surplus actually will exceed $500,000,000.

The daily treasury statement issued today for June 20 shows that tax receipts on that day amounted to $35,000,000. The surplus for the fiscal year 1924 to June 20 was $447,277,552.20. Further tax receipts will boost the surplus above the $500,000,000 mark before June 30.

born employees have been vacationing in their home towns of late, perhaps renewing old acquaintanceships and not avoiding kindly contrasts with friendly delegates, who perhaps may be instructed for McAdoo, but disposed to switch to Smith later in the convention.

There is also talk of the entertainment to be had hereabouts. They say one may be entertained after the Tammany mode, but not otherwise. That, too, they say, helps get votes for Smith. However, Mr. Rockwell confined himself to remarking upon the ticket evil only.

Another McAdoo Speech.

Then Mr. Rockwell brought up Mr. McAdoo's speech delivered before noon from the steps of the Vanderbilt hotel. He said it "harks back to Roosevelt."

This speech was delivered to a group of delegates, pretty much the same crowd as attended his gathering on the night before, and the speech was pretty much the same speech. There was a slightly changed note in the respect that instead of drawing upon Woodrow Wilson for his spirit he dropped back to Andrew Jackson.

Last night it was Wilson whose delegates clung together and saved the nation; today it was Andrew Jackson; both saving the country. He congratulated the California, Utah, Oregon, Hawaii, and South Dakota troops on their splendid resolve to nominate McAdoo and save the country again.

Rape New York Papers.

And he concluded with this blow for the New York newspapers, as well as the plea for cohesion, which may be saying is the note of despair in the McAdoo camp:

"And let me assure you—I don't need to assure you, but I will assure you and others who don't know you already—that all of this stuff you read in the hostile papers of the press, that these states which have declared for me made a simple gesture only, and after one or two ballots you are going to fade away and betray your trust, they libel you, and slander the great state you represent. You did not come here to betray, but to execute a trust, and I know that you are going to do it, and that every other Democrat in America is going to do it."

"You bet we are last ditchers. We are not only last ditchers, but we are pathfinders for Democracy."

BETTING LIVELY; SMITH FAVORITE; McADOO SECOND

New York, June 23.—(Special.)—Betting in the financial district today was the most active since the beginning of the Democratic convention preliminaries. W. L. Darnell & Co. reported. Approximately $50,000 in commissions was laid today, including one wager of $10,000 against $15,000 that Smith or a "dark horse" will be nominated. The firm is offering an additional $10,000 the same way at odds of 5 to 7 1/2.

Another wager was one of $10,000 against $25,000 that Smith will be elected to oppose the Coolidge ticket at the November election, and $10,000 additional available at the same odds. The only noteworthy change in the odds is an offer of the Darnell firm to lay $9,000 against $1,000 that McAdoo will not be nominated for president. Heretofore odds have been 2 1/2 to 1.

Darnell & Co. has various other commissions ranging from $1,000 to $10,000, to be laid against the chances of such aspirants as Cox, Davis, Glass, Ritchie, Ralston, Copeland and Underwood, at from 3 to 1 to 5 to 1.

DOHENY ACCUSES McADOO OF BEING CLIENT DESERTER

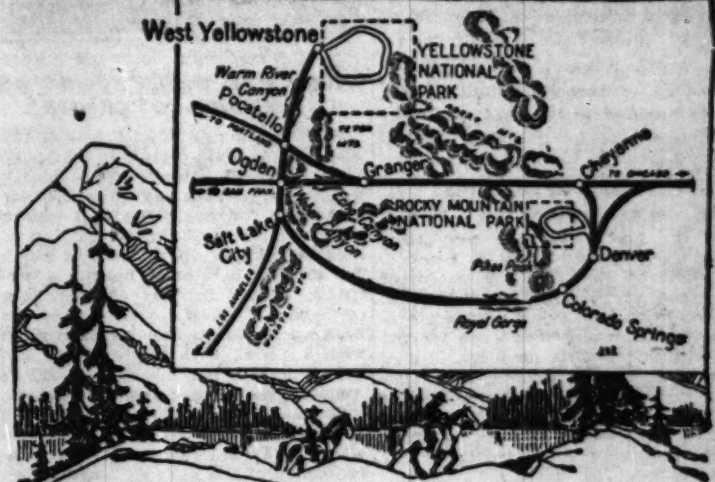

Los Angeles, Cal., June 23.—(Special.)—E. L. Doheny today issued a statement attacking William G. McAdoo and stamping the California candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination as a "deserter."

Doheny was emphatic in denying any contribution to the McAdoo campaign fund. His ire getting the better of him when he was shown reports from New York to this effect, he followed with this statement:

"I am leaving the privilege of contributing to Mr. McAdoo's campaign funds to those who believe in the efforts of a lawyer who deserts his client when he is under attack, after having received substantial retainers for legal services. Those who believe such a course is ethical no doubt believe Mr. McAdoo would make a good President of the United States."

Shock of Finding Party's Debts Paid Kayo for Hull

New York, June 23.—Chairman Hull of the Democratic national committee was in bed today recovering from heat prostration, exhaustion from overwork, acute indigestion, and shock from learning suddenly that the national committee had been able to pay all its debts and would enter the campaign with a clean slate.

KANSAS MODEST IN AMBITIONS IF NOT IN FLOWERS

Delegation Arrives with
Gov. Davis at Head.

TRIBUNE Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—(Special.)—Kansas delegates, headed by Gov. Jonathan M. Davis, favorite son and dirt farmer, arrived today and began distributing sunflowers about the lobby of the Hotel McAlpin, state headquarters.

Gov. Davis will be placed in nomination by Congressman William M. Ayres, who also was selected to represent the state on the important resolutions committee. Jettie Shouse of Kinsey, Kan., was selected as chairman of the delegation. An informal caucus disclosed that the delegation thinks Gov. Davis has a real chance to win second place on the national ticket. While no direct action was taken today, it was indicated that a majority of the state favors Mr. McAdoo, if the latter remains in the race when the sunflower delegates find their own favorite son out of the running.

"For Copeland and Davis," One delegate expressed the opinion that the best ticket the convention could name would be Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, a native of Michigan, and Gov. Davis of Kansas. Gov. Davis declared he did not consider the Klan a proper issue for the convention. If it is an illegal organization he said he favored its extinction by legal methods. Agriculture is the big issue, he said, and he intends to fight for several planks in the platform, promising a "fair deal for the farmers."

"We are not asking special favors," he said. "All we ask is a square deal."

McAdoo Wins Missouri Fight. Missouri will cast its thirty-six votes as a unit for McAdoo on the first ballot, and on subsequent ballots unless a majority of the delegation votes for another candidate. It was decided late today after a heated battle at Missouri headquarters at Hotel McAlpin during which some of the anti-McAdoo delegates flayed the former secretary of the treasury unmercifully for having accepted "million dollar" fees after leaving the Wilson cabinet.

Charles Hay, the St. Louis dry leader, led the successful fight for McAdoo, while most of the women on the delegation spoke for him as being the antithesis of what Governor Smith and Senator James A. Reed represent.

Joseph Shannon, veteran Kansas City politician, quoted from Bryan's Baltimore speech in an effort to stop the unit rule. He asserted he was opposed to McAdoo because the latter "when he became the attorney for the oil interests and what Governor W. W. Morse and the ice trust, prostituted to no public trust held under the greatest Liberty, youngest of the national weeklies, has been provided with a panel, with the cover of the fourth issue, that dated May 31, as "copy" for Miss Constance Evans, premiere danseuse of the revue. Miss Evans, stepping from the Liberty panel, is greeted by George Price, the interlocutor of the skit, as a newcomer, and responds by explaining that the mission of Liberty is to entertain and inform the world with fiction and fact.

Democratic president of all times—Woodrow Wilson."

The vote, however, was 78 to 10 for a unit poll for McAdoo. McAdoo men were named also on the resolutions and rules committees, Charles H. Mayer of St. Louis being elected to the former place and W. R. Hollister of Jefferson City to the latter. Former Gov. Frederick D. Gardner, a McAdoo man, was named chairman of the delegation.

Mystery at Secret Inquest on Death of William Field

The mystery surrounding the suicide Sunday of William A. Field, former steel magnate, was not cleared yesterday, the coroner's inquest being held behind closed doors. This is an unusual procedure.

Representatives of the coroner's office refused to explain the secret inquest and said there probably will be no further investigation.

to Senator Owens by Gov. Davis. The senator replied that the federal reserve bank led the way, but that the system could not be blamed. The blame must be put on the administration which had been placed in the hands of the "money changers" rather than with the plain people. The weakest, he said, bore the brunt of the deflation period. Senator Owens said that the argument that the protective tariff helped the farmer would appeal only to the feeble-minded.

"How can Europe pay back war loans except in the production of their labor," he said. "The time has come to relieve the farmer of the high tariff tax on his necessities. We must take steps to help him in production again."

Hands Across to Europe. E. T. Meredith said that every headquarters in New York was wondering what kind of a farmer plank to adopt. He would make cheaper money one of the main planks.

"I cannot help but think of what Nicholas Longworth, the majority leader in congress, remarked on the day of adjournment," Mr. Meredith said. "He was quoted as saying: 'The Republican party tried to find something to do for agriculture but we threw up our hands. We don't know what to do.'"

"Well, the Democrats must not throw up their hands now."

McAdoo Woes the Soil.

The McAdoo camp is trying to rope in the farmer delegates. Candidates

McAdoo, it is claimed, stands for the following program: "Restoration of prosperity to the farmers and live stock growers. To achieve this end he would have the United States assist European nations compose their differences, establish peace through friendly councils of all the nations of the earth, disarm, and become productive to the limit of their abilities, thus opening markets for American products."

At home he would have a tariff law constructed by a nonpartisan commission of experts; reduction of freight rates without endangering the legitimate profits of the stockholders; wherever efficient methods of operation are installed. He would have Muscle Shoals used for the manufacture of cheap fertilizer.

Dark Horse Baker Arrives.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, arrived in New York today and was named by his state as its representative on the resolutions committee. The Ohio delegates said to "watch Baker," meaning that he was a dark horse of some speed. They also instructed him to present the anti-Klan plank proposed by Ed. Moore, national committeeman from Ohio.

Mr. Baker is not keen about riding for a fall with Homer Cummings over the chairmanship of the resolutions committee. He is primarily interested, he said, in putting forward the Wilson league of nations plank as he is willing to do anything that he could to further this cause. Some one else may be picked to oppose Mr. Cummings after the complete membership in the committee is known.

Mr. Baker will support the league plank, which will be presented by John T. Clarke, and states in part: "The Democratic party declares that if it is successful in the coming election it will be the purpose of the next administration to do all in its power to secure for our country that moral leadership in the family of nations which in the Providence of God has so clearly been marked out for it, to enter the league of nations and the world court on such terms as the administration and the senate may deem necessary to adapt these two institutions to our peculiar national situation and needs, provided only that they be consistent with our constitution and with the dignity and character, the moral responsibility and power of our republic."

TRANSMISSION OF POWER STUDIED AT CONVENTION

Members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers are marking the fortieth anniversary of their society's founding by a five day convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel this week. They opened their sessions yesterday.

"No such age of scientific discovery has been known since the fifteenth century," declared R. F. Schuchardt, chief engineer of the Commonwealth Edison company and vice-president of the institute, discussing the plans for the convention. "A decade today sees a greater comparative advance than did the century then."

Methods of communication and the "super power" system are absorbing most of the electrical engineer's energy these days, it was said. Great progress in direction transmission is looked for in the radio field and many of the papers which will be read, beginning tomorrow, will deal with radio. It is expected that nearly 2,000 of the society's 16,000 members will attend the convention.

BRIDE BLAMES QUARRELS FOR SUICIDE EFFORT

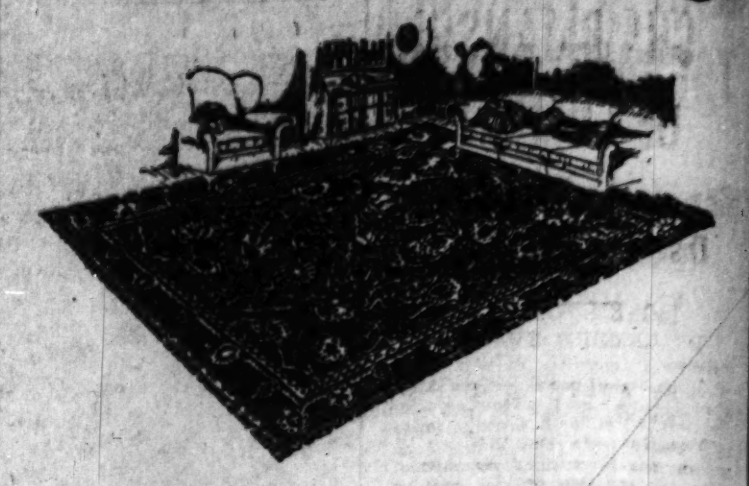

Mrs. Martha Rappaport Knapp, 18, a bride of two weeks, was sunning herself on the front porch of her parents' home, 3438 Douglas boulevard, yesterday recovering from her attempted suicide Sunday night. Then she took lodins when her husband, and her mother-in-law refused to admit her to their home at 4075 West 26th street.

The girl, a graduate of Medill High school, and the daughter of Israel Rappaport, a former rabbi, was married to Maurice Knapp, a chiropractor, two weeks ago before Judge Pomeroy in the county building.

"We quarreled all the time," the girl told the police. The girl said she told her mother of the marriage two days ago after her husband tried to throw her out of an automobile during a rainstorm. The mother advised her to go to her husband.

When she arrived, the girl said, her mother-in-law said she didn't even know her. The husband slammed the door in her face.

Insulated Heads Why Not Insulated Houses?

The worker in the fields would never think of being without his large sombrero "to keep the heat off." Yet thousands of houses are built with no thought of keeping out the heat in summer or keeping it in in winter.

Flax-li-num is a building material made for that purpose. Once you learn the change it makes in home comfort, you will not think of living in a house built without it.

Flax-li-num is a felt-like material made from flax fibres. It is built into the walls and roof. Being a non-conductor of heat, as rubber is a non-conductor of electricity, it keeps the house refreshingly cool on the most scorching days. In winter, it keeps out the cold in the same way.

Pays for itself in winter fuel saved

In three years or less, Flax-li-num pays for itself in fuel saved. Scientific tests show that it saves 33% per cent of the fuel bill. Ask about Flax-li-num when you build, buy or rent a house. It means summer comfort and fuel economy.

If you will call, write or phone we will tell you just how much Flax-li-num your house will need, where it should be applied and what it will cost.

WOMEN DEMAND
CHAIRMANSHIPS
OF COMMITTEESDistribution of Convention
Tickets Causes Row.

BY WALTER RODERICK.
Tribune Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—[Special.]—With state caucuses out of the way, women delegates to the Democratic national convention will turn their attention toward landing as many of their sex as possible as chairmen of committees. They are anxious to place women at the head of at least two committees—preferably rules and permanent organization—and thus outdo their Republican sisters who were successful in winning the leadership of but one committee at Cleveland.

Mrs. Leroy Springs of Lancaster, S. C., who has been paid the distinction of being "the most beautiful national committee woman," is being mentioned prominently for one of the chairmanships. Other chairmanships "possibilities" whose names have been under consideration wherever the women have gathered, are Mrs. Anna L. Smith, retiring national committee woman from Illinois; Miss Mary Archer of Pennsylvania; and Miss Elizabeth Marybury of New York.

Interest in New Vice Chairman.
Then there is another matter which is creating considerable agitation among the women.

This is the question as to whom will be the next vice chairman of the committee to succeed Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Missouri. Mrs. Blair has a host of friends who stand ready to make a warm fight to have her serve another term.

But recently there has been some dissatisfaction with her leadership. New York women especially have resented the reports that she is a strong McAdoo supporter in private. Her assistant, her political foe point out, is Mrs. Blair Bannister, a sister of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who is one of McAdoo's staunchest supporters.

Not only that, but some of the New York women are making capital of the fact that Mrs. Blair appointed two assistant secretaries from this state without consulting the state delegation.

Trouble Over Tickets.
Then Mrs. Blair bumped into a further bit of trouble when she lost considerable patronage in the way of convention tickets. Under the rules each national committeewoman has a complimentary ticket for every delegate. When the Missouri delegation met last night to obtain their share of the tickets, Mrs. Blair was present, but Edward F. Goltz of St. Louis, national committeewoman from Missouri, was absent. Therefore there were only half of the tickets available for distribution.

One male delegate started a row. He accused Mrs. Blair of having "made off" with some of the tickets. A squabble ensued, with the result that the distribution was put off until today. Mr. Goltz appeared and explained his absence was necessitated by work in the interest of the party. To settle the controversy all the tickets were pooled and distributed equally among the delegates, each receiving two.

Two women are being boomed for Mrs. Blair's place. The strongest candidate, as headquarters gossip has it, is Mrs. Fairbank, Illinois' new national committeewoman. In fact, there seems to be a well defined movement in her support. It is predicted Mrs. Fairbank will surely be the next vice chairman if "Brennan's" candidate goes over for the presidency.

Miss Mary Archer of Reading, Pa., is another candidate for the job who is said to have considerable voting support scattered among eastern delegations.

Recount Puts Woman
Ahead, G. O. P. Nomination

Mrs. Rena Elrod, candidate for state representative from the Twenty-fifth district in the Republican primary April 8, is now 127 votes ahead of Representative John Paul, according to figures shown by the recount which she obtained. On the face of returns and the official canvass Paul won by forty-nine votes. In the twenty-second precinct of the Fortieth ward watchers for Mrs. Elrod claimed a gain of 100 1/2 votes.

among the delegates, each receiving two.

Two women are being boomed for Mrs. Blair's place. The strongest candidate, as headquarters gossip has it, is Mrs. Fairbank, Illinois' new national committeewoman. In fact, there seems to be a well defined movement in her support. It is predicted Mrs. Fairbank will surely be the next vice chairman if "Brennan's" candidate goes over for the presidency.

Miss Mary Archer of Reading, Pa., is another candidate for the job who is said to have considerable voting support scattered among eastern delegations.

Recount Puts Woman Ahead, G. O. P. Nomination
Mrs. Rena Elrod, candidate for state representative from the Twenty-fifth district in the Republican primary April 8, is now 127 votes ahead of Representative John Paul, according to figures shown by the recount which she obtained. On the face of returns and the official canvass Paul won by forty-nine votes. In the twenty-second precinct of the Fortieth ward watchers for Mrs. Elrod claimed a gain of 100 1/2 votes.

"OLD GUARD" OF
G. O. P. IS ON JOB;
HURT ALL GONE

Senators Watson and Moses Arrive.
BY FRANK BUTZOW.

There will be no strained relations in the coming campaign between the Republican "Old Guard" and the new G. O. P. regime as personified in William M. Butler, new chairman of the national committee through personal selection by President Coolidge.

This assurance, stressed by all sides following the ill feeling that developed at the Cleveland convention, was substantiated yesterday by the arrival of two important old guardmen at national headquarters for a conference with Secretary Roy O. West.

The two arrivals were Senators James A. Watson of Indiana and George Moses of New Hampshire, and they came on a more important mission than just a friendly call.

Arrange for Headquarters.
As a matter of fact, they were here for the express purpose of arranging for the opening of senatorial committee headquarters in rooms adjacent to the national committee in the Wrigley building.

More and more each day as preparations for the campaign develop, it becomes more apparent that the Old Guard, so slighted at Cleveland, will be called upon to furnish much of the campaign strategy. And the Old Guard is responding heartily, assuring the insiders say, party solidarity for the national frays that comes to a head next November.

Mr. West Fits In.
Mr. West, in whose hands much of the campaign maneuvering has been left, is not so remotely associated with Old Guard connections himself. His Denoon affiliation and the factional situation in Illinois were largely responsible for his selection as national secretary.

Fred W. Upham, Illinois' new committeeman, long a faithful and trusted guardsman and treasurer of the national committee, is a constant adviser at headquarters.

Ex-Gov. George Curry of New Mexico, member of the American-Mexican international boundary commission, brought cheerful reports from the southwest.

N. Y. CONVENTION
FULL OF THRILLS,
MADAME X. SAYSMusic, Crowds, Welcome
Signs Everywhere.

BY MADAME X.
Tribune Convention Bureau, New York, June 23.—[Special.]—The train whizzes through the landscape with a soothing, cradling motion which sent this chronicler into a heavy stupor after leaving Cleveland Sunday night, from which she woke only as the train was roaring down the east shore of the Hudson river Monday morning. In June this lovely stream is more like an Italian lake in color, quality, and texture. Its glassy iridescent surface reflects with almost poignant accuracy mountains, little boats, islands, and swooping birds.

West Point looms out of the early haze like some medieval castle, its gray ramparts and grizzly towers give a note to the scenery which recalls trips up or down the Rhine, with "her and pretzel" and "die Wacht am Rhein" mingling in ecstatic harmony.

Getting Near Gotham.
An hour away in little old New York the clans are gathering and filling the sunlit and look fiercely gloomy in the moonlight. Nature takes no notice of the infinitely insignificant little living atoms that aeons ago crept out of her primeval ooze and who aeons hence will vanish again into the white and eternal silence which will finally envelope this speck of stellar dust.

So hail to the convention of the followers of Thomas Jefferson!
A great noise you'll make and perhaps the milky way will worry as to the wellness of your platform. But we don't believe that the destinies of this country are going to be hampered or deflected by either of the two great political parties, though the personal choice of the writer is for Coolidge and Dawes.

Gotham Well Decorated.
In New York City all up and down Broadway and 5th, Madison, and other avenues, and nearby streets, yards and yards of red, white and blue bunting and myriads of flags are flapping in the breeze, while every shop both inside and out bears welcome signs and many invitations to people from Alabama to Alaska to come in and sit down.

The Illinois delegation has its headquarters in the Pennsylvania, and the first person I ran into there was the gallant Col. James Hamilton Lewis, who quickly put me in touch with the women's chief office, where I met Mrs. Myrtle Taliaferro Dixon of Roseville, an alternate. She has been county chairman of the Democratic women's organization there since it was founded; she is also a business woman and a director of the First National bank of Roseville.

Two Women Delegates.
Two Illinois women delegates are Mrs. Sarah Bond Hanley of Monmouth and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank of Chicago. The last named is stopping with friends, the Posts, on Park avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Post are the parents of the young and charming Mrs. Gerard Wallop, whose mother was Miss Marguerite Walker of Chicago. This youthful couple will be, in the due course of time, the earl and countess of Portsmouth. Mrs. Fairbank has with her her daughter, Miss Janet Fairbank.

The Democratic women of New York City have formed a committee of nine to look after the visiting women at this convention. Miss Elizabeth Marbury, the well known authority on matters dramatic is chairman of this committee. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is treasurer; Mrs. John Blair is secretary, while the six vice chairmen come from all over the state.

Prominent Women Present.
Two of the most conspicuous women here in the councils of the Democrats are Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson and Mrs. "Bordie" Harriman. The former is taking after her sister in England, Lady Astor, in interesting herself in matters political, while Mrs. Harriman is noted as keeping open house in Washington for the members of this party. Her Sunday evening suppers are famous as being the occasion for many important rendezvous of the high chiefs of the party.

Not even when it was entertaining the king and queen of Roumania in May was London so clogged with wading bands of music and lively processions, as New York is today. Banging drums and braying brass trumpets met us at the 42d street station on our arrival, utterly disrupting the porters' service and the getting of taxis. The town belongs to the convention much more than we in Chicago ever did to the many historic Republican conventions which have been held there.

THE pleasure imparted by music depends largely on the mood of the hearer—who may at one time prefer the plaintive note of Siebel's Solo from "Faust," and, at another, the spirited blast of the brasses in the Tannhauser March.

The effect of each melody is greatly emphasized by accurate reproduction of all shades of tone, and this is accomplished by the KIMBALL Phonograph with a vitality that adds astonishing realism to every selection played.

KIMBALL Style M, illustrated above, is an exquisite console type in the Queen Anne style. Furnished with the Tone Control, or Amplifier, which controls and varies the volume. All other exclusive KIMBALL features, plays all makes of disc records, and equipped with record albums.

KIMBALL Phonographs, both console and upright models, reveal a great range of designs, from tasteful simplicity to decorative elegance.

LIQUOR HOUSE SUES COLLECTOR FOR $500,000

Grommes & Ullrich Want
Income Tax Back.

Good will, most acrobatic of business assets, encountered in federal court, took a dip from $275,000 to a round zero in the case of Grommes & Ullrich, liquidated whisky dealers, according to a $500,000 suit filed yesterday against Mabel Reigelske, collector of internal revenue for the northern Illinois district.

Among other items the suit seeks to recover $275,000 income taxes paid under protest on Nov. 26, 1923. Payment was made after federal officials had refused to allow the claim of the firm that the bottom fell out of the legitimate booze business the day prohibition became effective.

Claimed Exemption.
At the time the tax was paid the firm set up the claim that during fifteen years prior to the advent of the supposed dry era, $2,371,618.28 was spent in giving away samples of choice hooch and in other ways promoting good will.

In figuring the amount of income for the fiscal year ending Nov. 26, 1919, the $275,000 was deducted from the business profits tax return "to cover loss for abandonment of intangible assets due to prohibition legislation."

History of Firm Told.
Attorneys who filed the bill stated that the action was in no way connected with the sensational "stock speculation" of the company a year ago under which thousands of gallons of the "real McCoy" reached the cellars of wealthy Chicagoans who had become interested stockholders long after the "good will" had become negligible.

The bill included a sketch of the history of Grommes & Ullrich dating from the arrival in Chicago from Germany of M. Ullrich in 1854. It told, with what court attaches called a note of pathos, of the quality of the stuff Grommes & Ullrich put out after the concern had grown from a winehouse on West Madison street to a firm of "international fame and reputation for integrity."

SEEK RECRUITS FOR NEW UNIT OF ILLINOIS N. G.

Members of the old 33d division who enlisted in the Illinois National Guard after the war are prepared to start a drive for national guard recruits under the leadership of Col. Walter J. Fisher, commander of ammunition trains in the division.

Col. Fisher will address members of the 23d signal company at 115 East Ontario street tonight, pointing out some of the many advantages of national guard training and recreation.

Guardsmen are required to put in only one-half hour one night a week. They are given instruction in horsemanship and general military training and they may take instruction in radio operating if they wish.

DRY AGENTS IN RAID. SCANDAL PUT ON TRIAL

Attorney Seeks to Establish Frameup.

Trial fans who assembled yesterday in Municipal Judge Shulman's court to witness the discomfiture of the "nine jolly prohibition agents" and listen to descriptions of immoral "circuses" as only policemen can describe 'em, enjoyed a torrid session.

But despite the descriptions the jolly nine expressed elation at the developments of the day's hearing. It seems that the sin and the agents were in entirely different parts of the disorderly house at 4607 Prairie avenue, of which the agents were charged with being inmates, following almost simultaneous raids by a squad from the chief's office and by men from the Fifth street station.

"Speaks of Frame-Up."
Lowell Mason, attorney for the agents, placed great stress on the fact that two branches of the police department, supposed to be working independently, should happen to arrive at a place long known as a flagrant violator just a few minutes after federal men had arrived.

The attorney pointed to the circumstance as evidence that the agents had been "framed on" by enemies among bootleggers and the police.

Investigators There Before.
Policemen who testified admitted under questioning of Attorney Mason that on previous raids they frequently had met investigators for the Committee of Fifteen and other reform organizations but never had arrested them.

The police did not agree in their answers to questions as to whether the agents had identified themselves as federal operatives on duty. Some said they gave fictitious names and others admitted they showed their federal commissions, which bear their portraits and statements of their authority. The case went over.

"We had no engine trouble," the only delay was due to oversights. "McCoy, Dayton, O. In our hurry we nut too tight and a casting That held us up an hour and a half."

"Our average time? I don't know. In the mountains we fell down miles a hour. At lower altitudes Nevada we came fast. The weather was good, except having the wind against us. 200 miles was good. Then miles of rain and another 100 of fog. The rest of the way it was clear, just the average clouds."

"But we had to buck the way. It was dead against the wind. We had it crossways, just as bad. With favorable weather, even break on it, we could have three hours off our time."

Air Chief Wins Praise
Washington, D. C., June 23.—Congratulations were sent by Mr. Patrick, chief of the army staff, early today to Lieut. Maughan, a member of the completion of the transcontinental flight. In a message transmitted by the Associated Press, Gen. Patrick said: "Congratulations on the most of a wonderful feat. You fulfilled every condition I have set. You have brought prestige to the army air service, and to the nation. Not only from a military but commercial standpoint this epochal flight is a proud of your success."

Praise by Commander Mitchell Field, N. Y., June 23.

"We had no engine trouble at all. The only delay was due to our own overcautiousness. At McCook field, Dayton, O., in our hurry we screwed a nut too tight and a casting cracked. That held us up an hour and a quarter."

"Our average time? I don't know. In the mountains we fell down to 140 miles an hour. At lower altitudes the time was better. Skidding down from Nevada we came fast."

"The weather was good, except for having the wind against us. The first 200 miles was good. Then we hit 150 miles of rain and another 100 miles of fog. The rest of the way across it was clear, just the average run of clouds."

"But we had to buck the wind all the way. It was dead against us two-thirds of the way, and the rest of the time we had it crossways, which is just as bad."

"With favorable weather, or just an even break on it, we could have cut three hours off our time."

Air Chief Wins Praise.

Washington, D. C., June 23.—Congratulations were sent by Maj. Gen. Patrick, chief of the army air service, early today to Lieut. Maughan immediately upon the completion of the transcontinental flight.

In a message transmitted to the lieutenant by the Associated Press, Gen. Patrick said: "You have fulfilled every confidence I had in you. You have brought prestige to yourself, the army air service, and to America. Not only from a military but from a commercial standpoint this flight is epochal. I am proud of you. God bless you."

Praise by Commander.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., June 23.—Lieut.

RACING THE SUN

This map shows the progress of Lieut. Russell Maughan by steps in his dawn to dusk transcontinental flight.

- 1—Took off from Mineola, N. Y., at 3 a. m. eastern standard time.
- 2—He arrived in Dayton, O., at 7:05 a. m. eastern standard time, a flying time of 4 hours 5 minutes in covering 570 miles.
- 3—He took off from Dayton at 8:16 eastern time, and landed at St. Joseph, Mo., at 10:52 central time, covering a flight of 560 miles in 3 hours 36 minutes.
- 4—He took off from St. Joseph at 11:37 central time, and landed at Cheyenne, Wyo., at 2:17 mountain time, covering 550 miles in 3 hours 40 minutes.
- 5—He left Cheyenne at 2:45 and reached Salt Lake, Utah, at 5:20.
- 6—At 8:19 he passed Reno, and a few minutes later began the climb to carry him over the Sierras. As the last glimpse of daylight faded he crossed into California.
- 7—At 9:43 he landed at Crissy field, San Francisco.

Russell Maughan's transcontinental flight, despite the fact that he exceeded his time limit, gives him a place in the foremost ranks of the world's aviators. Maj. William N. Hensley Jr., commander of Mitchell field, said to night when told that the aviator had landed in San Francisco.

The news that Lieut. Maughan had crossed the continent without mishap within the span of a single day was received with jubilation by the aviator's fellow officers at the flying field.

"Lieut. Maughan has accomplished by patience, endurance, and courage a feat that many of his most optimistic colleagues considered impossible," said Maj. Hensley. "The army, and particularly the air service, is proud of him."

Faded Twice Before.

Maughan's flight today was his third attempt to cross the continent between dawn and dusk.

The first flight, on July 9, 1923, ended when Lieut. Maughan, flying a pursuit plane with a 400 horse power D-12 engine, made a forced landing at Avenue City, Mo., approximately half way across the continent.

Ten days later a second attempt was made, ending at Rock Springs, Wyo., when an oil leak necessitated a forced landing within about 600 miles of the goal.

Today's flight was made in a 275 horse power twelve cylinder Curtiss pursuit plane. Maughan waited several days after the date on which he at first intended to make his flight until his scouts at Dayton, O.; St. Joseph, Mo.; Cheyenne, Wyo., and Salt Lake, Utah, reported that weather conditions were right. At each of the above cities he stopped to take on fuel and to rest for a few minutes.

He planned to make the cross-continent flight in 16 hours and 40 minutes. He hoped off half a minute before 3 a. m. eastern standard time.

OTHER RECORD FLIGHTS

Lieut. Russell Maughan's race with the sun across the continent in one day recalls other long distance and nonstop flights made in the last few years by American aviators.

One of the most notable of these was the trip of Lieut. Harrison G. Crocker, who broke the world's record for a non-stop flight in a single plane by flying 1,400 miles from Ellington field, Houston, Tex., to Selfridge field, Detroit, in 11 hours and 54 minutes on May 26, 1923.

Another sensational record was made the same month when two aviators crossed the continent without a stop. They were Lieut. Oakley G. Kelly and Lieut. John A. MacReady, who flew from New York to San Diego, 2,530 miles, in 28 hours and 50 minutes on May 2 and 3, 1923.

Doolittle's Long Flight.

Lieut. Crocker in making his nonstop record used the same plane in which Lieut. James H. Doolittle on Sept. 8, 1922, made a nonstop flight from Kelly field, Texas, to San Diego, Cal., a distance of about 1,240 miles, in 11 hours and 10 minutes while trying for a non-stop record from Jacksonville, Fla., to San Diego. His total elapsed time from Florida to California with the one stop was 22 hours and 35 minutes and the distance covered was 2,275 miles.

Capt. Lowell Smith and Lieut. John Richter, army aviators, established an endurance record at San Diego last August by staying in the air for 37 hours 15 minutes and 14 4-5 seconds.

Airplanes manned by United States air mail pilots flew 2,850 miles from San Francisco to New York in 27 hours 14 minutes actual flying time in August, 1923.

MacReady's Height Record.

Lieut. MacReady also established an altitude record at Dayton in 1921 when he went to 34,698 feet. This was beaten by a Frenchman, Sadi Lecointe, who mounted 36,745 1-3 feet at Villacoublay, France.

Capt. John D. Alcock and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown of the British royal air forces crossed the ocean and established a record for foreign flyers in July, 1920, by going 1,960 miles from St. John's N. F., to Clifden, Ireland, without a stop.

JUDGE "ROASTS" POLICE, IN MAIL CASE WRIT ROW

Chief and Others on the Carpet in Court.

Chief of Police Collins, Chief of Detectives Hughes, and other high police officials, together with Chief Postoffice Inspector A. E. Germer, were questioned closely on the witness stand before Circuit Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday at a hearing to show cause why they refused to heed a writ of habeas corpus issued by the state court.

The whole matter, which lasted the entire day, centered around the attempt by attorneys for Miss Louise Drafska, alias Louise Newton, held in connection with the $2,000,000 Rindout robbery two weeks ago, to obtain her freedom on the writ.

They appeared before Judge Lindsay last Friday and entered a petition for a writ. The order was entered and Chief Collins notified, through his office in the city hall, that the woman was wanted before the court forthwith.

That was shortly before 11 o'clock in the morning.

Turned Over to U. S.

Finally, at 2:30 o'clock or thereabouts, Chief of Detectives Hughes came into court with a return which stated Miss Drafska had been turned over to the federal authorities on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner Herman Bettler.

Hughes said she was in the hands of federal government officials and they would hold her.

Chief Collins said at that time became aroused and demanded the young woman be produced in his courtroom inside of fifteen minutes. A half hour later she was brought in.

"This is an outrage," the judge said.

"This woman's constitutional rights have been violated in every respect, and the court has been seriously embarrassed by the police department."

Many Officials Appear.

So yesterday the heads of the department were there in response to the order. In addition to Chief Collins and Hughes, there were Capt. William Schoemaker, Deputy Superintendent Matthew Zimmer, Chief Inspector Germer, Warden Wesley Westbrook of the county jail, and a number of his aids, including Assistant Jailer Hans Thompson.

The latter was there because he had been threatened with contempt of court proceedings before Federal Judge Adam C. Cliff. He was ordered late Friday night to produce the woman in the federal court after she had been remanded to the jail by Judge Lindsay, but had apparently been slow in carrying out the federal court's orders.

Collins on Stand.

Chief Collins was the first to take the stand yesterday. He was questioned by Attorneys George Guenther and Michael Ahern, Miss Drafska's attorneys.

"I know nothing of personal knowledge concerning the writ of habeas corpus," the chief replied in answer to questions. "I was not in my office when it was served and took no part in the matter. I have heard it was served and heard the government took out warrants for her arrest about the same time."

Deputy Zimmer testified that about 10:30 Friday morning he was notified by Capt. Schoemaker that a writ was in process in Judge Lindsay's court. He then stated he had been occupied before the federal grand jury and had not heard of the case until he was called before Judge Lindsay that afternoon.

Didn't Talk with Zimmer.

Capt. Schoemaker testified he did not remember having any conversation with Deputy Zimmer that had been related by the latter. His answers chiefly consisted of "I do not remember," "I am not clear on time and details," and "I can't recollect what happened."

Judge Lindsay sent the policeman into the "bullpen" to try and clear up his memory.

When Capt. Schoemaker was recalled to the stand he remembered of his conversation with Deputy Zimmer. He was instructed to tell the court just what happened the same as he would if he were testifying against a criminal.

"I remember I told Zimmer that Byrne had said that the woman was going to be held by the government, and that she should tell Judge Lindsay that," the captain said.

It was pointed out by Attorney Ahern that the woman was held by the local police until a state writ was issued and then an attempt was made to defeat the court order by turning the woman over to the government, where she could not be touched.

The contempt proceedings before Judge Cliff will take place at 10 o'clock this morning, with Assistant Jailer Thompson the central figure. When that is disposed of the hearing before Judge Lindsay will continue.

BOOZE BLOWOUT AT STORE.

Twenty-four pints of liquor and $600 were obtained yesterday by safelovers, who used a charge of nitroglycerin in opening a safe of the Walgreen drug store at 401 East 63d street.

DEATH OF FIVE BRINGS MOTOR TOTAL UP TO 291

Woman, Two Boys, and Two Men Victims.

Five deaths, due to motor vehicle accidents, brought the total since Jan. 1 to 291 yesterday. Among those who died were a woman, two boys, and two men.

Two drivers were arrested following the death of Mrs. Anna Goodsell, caught between a Yellow cab and a larger auto which collided as she was attempting to cross Dearborn street at Chicago avenue.

She was taken to the Henrich Memorial hospital, where she died and where the body lay unclaimed until identified by Mrs. Charlotte Curran of 1944 Belden avenue. The drivers, arrested and booked on charges of manslaughter, are: Wesley Kanter, 1116 14 avenue, Maywood, driver of the taxi, and L. C. De Wolf, 8708 Greenwood avenue, who drove the other car.

Two Boys Are Killed.

Joseph Sullivan, 7, colored, of Memphis, Tenn., was killed at Hermitage avenue and Taylor street. Henry Stadaven, 1456 West Lake street, also colored, who drove the truck which ran over the boy, was arrested. The boy was spending his summer vacation with his grandmother, who lives at 1725 Taylor street.

Fred Drew, 13, 6330 Belmont avenue, was riding in the side car of a motorcycle operated by Frank Bonarski, 1503 North Austin avenue. The machine crashed into a pile of bricks in front of 2444 North Austin avenue. The boy died in the Lutheran Deaconess hospital.

Others Die of Injuries.

Injuries received a week ago caused the death of Walter Walsh, 55, 6615 Kenwood avenue yesterday. He was struck while at Kenwood avenue and Marquette road, by an automobile driven by Charles Buckner, 1765 East 79th street.

John Doll, 50, of 1429 Austin avenue, a painter, died last night after being struck yesterday by a motor truck while at West Grand avenue and Noble street. George Paluck, 4314 N. Oakley avenue, driver of the truck was held by the police.

Two taxicab drivers were reported to have been indicted by the grand jury on charges of manslaughter. They are Levin Luke, a Yellow cab driver, whose car killed Walter Weresch, 163 West 62d street, and Frank Lustella, a Brown cab driver, who was held responsible for the death of Alex Parker. Both deaths occurred several days ago.

Curbs "Jagged" Speeders. War on "drunken drivers from Chicago" was declared yesterday by Police Magistrate Max Witkower in Evanston, who fined two drivers $300 and costs each.

"I will not allow motorists from Chicago to drive recklessly through Evanston," he said. It happened, however, that one of the drivers, fined for drunken driving, was an Evanstonian, Patrick Carlson of 908 Grove street. The other driver is George Marchi, 29, 1141 Clybourn avenue.

LAST year the Postal Telegraph Cable Co. laid a trans-Atlantic cable 5000 miles long. Faster than any other cable, it has a carrying capacity of 1200 letters per minute—and cost $10,000,000.

HUSBAND GLAD HE SHOT WIFE; HE BLAMES HER

"She abused me, she had it coming to her," said John Sproule, 28, of 7033 Justine street, last night after he had shot and killed his wife, Della, from whom he had been separated.

Sproule shot his wife three times when he returned home to find moving men loading their household goods into a van. He turned the gun on himself also, but found it empty. Then in the Circuit court at Geneva, Ill.

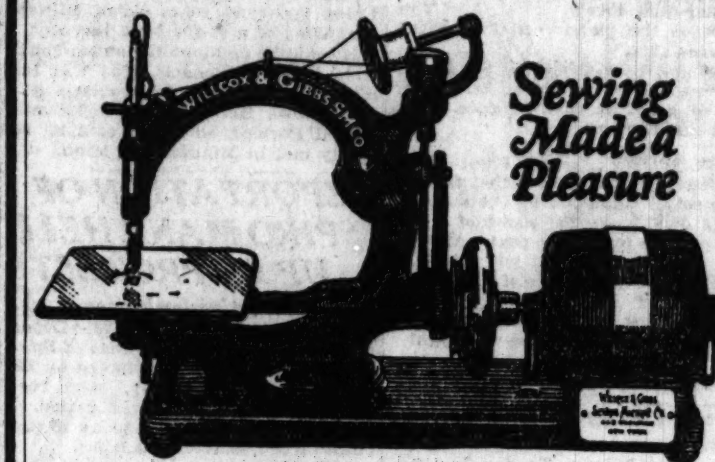

he drank a quantity of iodine and lay down beside her to die.

The doctors, however, would not let him die. The movers called the police, who took Sproule to a hospital, where a stomach pump was applied. It was after he had recovered that he told the police he was not sorry.

MR. KELLEY TO BE MADE BISHOP OF OKLAHOMA

The Rt. Rev. Mr. Francis C. Kelley, who for 19 years has been president of the Catholic Church Extension Society, has been appointed bishop of Oklahoma by Pope Pius, according to Associated Press cable advice.

Mr. Kelley had received no official notice last night and said he does not expect any message sooner than it can be brought by mail from the Vatican.

"I have been practically all my life in domestic missions, especially in the west," said Mr. Kelley, "and so I'm very glad that my new field will be Oklahoma. I have always loved this sort of work."

Consecration in September.

Consecration for the new office will probably take place late in September, depending on the time when the bulls arrive from Rome. If the ceremony is held no later, Bishop Kelley will leave Chicago about Oct. 8.

During the nineteen years he has been in the Chicago archdiocese, Mr. Kelley has been priest of Wilmette, Roselle, and Oak Park. He has also been in charge of the Catholic Church Extension Society (which is similar in purpose to Protestant home missionary societies) and keeping up parish work. He has written investigative books and editorials. He has been responsible for improvements in Chicago parochial schools. For five years he was vice commander of the general Military Order of Foreign Wars.

His Record as Church Man.

Mr. Kelley was born at Charlestown, Prince Edward Isles, Oct. 23, 1876, the son of John and Mary Kelley, and was educated at St. Dunstan's college, Charlestown. He was ordained a priest in 1893, and was pastor at LaPeer, Mich., until 1908. In the Spanish-American war he was captain and chaplain of the Michigan national guard, and later became colonel and aide-de-camp on the staff of the commander in chief of the Spanish-American war veterans.

In 1907 he published "The Last Battle of the Gods," in 1911 "The Flaming Cross," and in 1914 after a trip to Mexico, "The People of Red and Yellow," possibly his outstanding literary effort. He has been an uncompromising foe of spiritualism and the occult.

The bishop elect is one of the most widely known Catholic leaders on the continent, having served his church in Alaska and in Mexico as well as his continuing work in home missions.

Girl, Believed Kidnaped, Returned to Her Aunt

Best Jeffries, 26, was placed on probation for a year yesterday, and 17-year-old Gertrude Barker, student at St. Xavier's academy, was turned over to the custody of her aunt. The girl disappeared on her way from the school to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Kelly, 4561 Lake Park avenue, at the same time the country was searching for the kidnapers and slayers of Robert Frank. For a time it was believed she was kidnaped, until she was found several days later, keeping house for Jeffries over a stable at 1899 East 49th street, where Jeffries is employed as a riding instructor.

YANKEE CRIMPS KING'S RICH BID FOR EUROPE LOAN

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BUCHAREST, Roumania, June 22.—The visit of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie to Paris and London has cost the government 150,000,000 lei, or $50,000,000.

An additional expense was $25,000 which the government paid to Col. Greble, a representative of the Baldwin Locomotive works. By some chance Col. Greble had arranged to appear in the courts the day before the royal departure from Bucharest and to demand a sequestration order against fifty Baldwin locomotives on which the government had suspended all payments for the last two years.

As one of the principal objectives of the royal visit was to sound out London bankers on a loan to Roumania, the government feared that Col. Greble's suit would prejudice the prospects of the loan. It astonished the American by presenting him with $25,000 back interest. It charged this, with other expenses, to the visit.

The trip was a failure because London bankers refused to consider floating a loan to Roumania so long as the government continues to repudiate its debts and to confiscate foreign property.

You can't jar cards loose or out of alignment in this perfected visible record with 8 major superiorities

To Dept. heads

Your present card records can be shifted without re-writing, to the L. B. "Speedac". It increases the usefulness of such records as:

- Sales records
- Stock records
- Purchasing records
- Employment records
- Credit records
- Card ledger

"SUPPOSE you drop a tray," suggested a customer, "won't the cards shake loose?" For answer, the L. B. salesman took a tray from the L. B. "Speedac", turned it upside down, shook it violently, and then dropped it on the floor. Not a carrier budged from its place. Not a card got out of alignment.

Perfect, secure alignment is only one of the 8 superiorities of this perfected visible record. Cards and carriers can be removed or inserted with a speed that sets a new standard for visible record filing. Posting to the card is a simple operation because the other cards lie flat when flipped over. And this visible record, 99 7/10% accurate, sets a new standard.

The L. B. "Speedac" guarantees greater usefulness and economy from card records in your office. Call at our store, or send for an L. B. salesman.

Remember when sandwiches tasted best?

SURE you do—back in the old days of childhood and the Sunday School picnic. Mother'd open up the well-filled basket in the cool shade of the trees. How hungry you were for that big sandwich—did ANYTHING ever taste BETTER?

Remember the home-made bread and the fresh country butter, the generous slices of meat, and the flavor of it all? Well, that's the sort of old-fashioned goodness you get in every Thompson sandwich. When you were a kid you could eat a dozen such sandwiches and want MORE. You'll enjoy all the thrills of those yesterdays the moment you have a Thompson sandwich between your teeth.

TOKIO PAPERS ATTACK U. S. FOR SLAYING OF JAPS

See Civilization Periled
in Race Brutality.

BY RODERICK MATHESON.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
TOKIO, June 23.—The situation in Japan following the slaying of several Japanese in California is growing more tense, and the possibility of war is being widely discussed. Responsible people and the authorities are trying to check this sentiment.

The vernacular press today for the most part is refraining from editorial comment, only one or two making statements.

A Bitter Comment.
Yesterday's Osaka Asahi contained bitter comment on the California news which reached here yesterday. The Asahi repeated a cable announcing the near lynching of two Japanese at Los Angeles and the killing of two at Port MacArthur, adding:

"The exclusion act which has only been in force ten days has already produced grave consequences as justly anticipated by our ambassador, threatening the traditional friendship between the two nations. Americans have been proved guilty of a barbarous blunder, however, not the Japanese."

"Japan is unfortunate in having to deal with such a barbarous neighbor whose boast is her 'civilization.' Against such an insult as discrimination Japan stood determined to wipe it out by all means, but heretofore it has maintained a dignified attitude, bearing the humiliation patiently. At the same time indignation is burning Japanese blood."

Incident Up to U. S.
"Both the press and the government are cautioning the people not to act emotionally, lest they bring on serious consequences. Probably this attitude has made some Americans conclude that Japan has completely submitted to the insult, permitting anything else possible to humiliate the Japanese. It is true that this incident is local, not representing American sentiment, but America cannot avoid its responsibility."

Issues a Manifesto.
The vernacular press carries a full page advertisement titled "A manifesto to the whole Japanese nation" and signed "The Taiyo Gakka," a new patriotic society which staged the so-called Imperial hotel incident. The manifesto says:

"Yesterday's report from America to the effect that Japanese are being attacked at Los Angeles, and others are being found murdered near a fortified house so far as newspaper reports only

We cannot give full credence to the report just at the recent act at the Imperial hotel, which was intended to warn our countrymen who... we consider parasites, was reported abroad as an affair in which ruffians chased foreigners about with drawn swords. Countrymen, we must not sacrifice the real interests of the nation to such careless acts of sentiment and passion. Supposing the reports from America are true, let us settle the question in strict observance of the code of chivalry. We oppose retaliatory violence, particularly against helpless and isolated Americans living among us. We may hate the sins of others, but do not let us be men who commit them. The crimes are those of a few and not of the entire nation. This is the real spirit of Yamato—the original name of the Japanese (dab sword) race.

"We want our countrymen to observe the spirit of this creed and we hope that no act will be done to bring reproach upon Japan. We sincerely request every one to indorse this stand."

The police are getting in touch with all foreigners, notifying them what to do in case of an emergency. Except in minor instances, no foreigners have been troubled.

The Yoruho, a paper having a wide circulation among the masses, this morning says:

"We who know full well the barbarous Americans, have felt concerned no little regarding the possible developments in that country. This has been no idle fear, for now reports are coming in of the spilling of Japanese blood in the Pacific states. There has been a clear case of lynching."

"In Los Angeles anti-Japanese placards have invited attacks on Japanese."

Seventy-Five Years! It was just that long ago when Dr. Cantrell of Belfast perfected "C & C" Ginger Ale and introduced it to a delighted public. And all this time "C & C" quality has defied imitation and its golden healthfulness has radiated to every corner of the world.

In America. The first popular recognition of "C & C" outside the Emerald Isle and Great Britain was in America, in the earliest years of "C & C." Never has its popularity flagged, but has grown on and on with the growth of numbers.

In the last two years the demand for "C & C" in the United States has more than doubled.

You cannot enter a hotel, or club, a first class restaurant, a Pullman car, a dining car, a passenger steamship, where "C & C" is not the pre-eminent beverage and has been since time out of mind.

The Lesson of Econ- omy

THE principle of conservation, through efficient management and rigid economy, is so ingrained in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as to be fundamental to the operation of this business.

Years ago, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) learned that the only way to keep a big business on a thoroughly efficient plane is to plug up the small leaks. Accordingly, painstaking attention was given to ways and means of overcoming wasteful details, unimportant and inexpensive in themselves, but taken as a whole assuming enormous proportions.

The practice of economy is thoroughly grounded in the personnel of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and has profoundly influenced the activities of the Company.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the unquestioned pioneer of conservation methods in the oil business.

Back of every important innovation made by this Company stand these questions: "Does this change improve the quality and service?—Does it effect a saving?"

For example, the famous Burton Cracking Process now in general use was originated to conserve the supply of petroleum—to produce a greater percentage of gasoline from crude oil, without in any way affecting the quality of lubricating oils and other primary products.

The Burton Cracking Process has increased largely the yield of gasoline from a barrel of crude, thereby exerting a marked influence in keeping the price of gasoline low.

Conservation led to the erection of farms of steel tanks—to insure a constant supply of crude petroleum—to enable the refiner to reduce his cost by continuous operations—to store the finished product without undue loss from evaporation.

Conservation again was back of the establishment of pipe lines, because they were the most economical method of transporting oil.

The conservation idea led finally to the vast distribution system which covers the ten Middle Western States and carries petroleum products from the refineries of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to farms, factories and individual users, everywhere.

The practice of economy and conservation has been a potent force in developing the splendid system which this Company offers to the thirty million people of the Middle West.

BELGIUM AGREES TO ANGLO-FRENCH PLAN FOR PARLEY

Premiers Send Note to Berlin on Arms.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 23.—The Belgian government today accepted the tentative proposals of Prime Minister MacDonald and Premier Herriot for a reparations conference in London on July 16. If the United States consents to be represented at the conference, its acceptance is considered as assured. It is regarded as certain that Italy will adhere to the plan outlined by the British and French premiers.

Public interest now centers on the composition of the allied conference which it has been agreed will be held in London on July 16. It is believed that it will be composed of Mr. MacDonald, M. Herriot, Premier Mussolini of Italy, Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador to the court of St. James, and it is thought to join the league of nations. The Germans, however, are not willing to join unless they are given a place ment with M. Theunis for Belgium to waive a part of its priority on reparations in order to give France a large portion, enabling the balancing of the French 1925 budget.

BRITAIN IS PLEASED

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, June 23.—The utmost satisfaction was expressed in British political circles today over the outcome of the conference between Prime Minister MacDonald and Premier Herriot at Chequers yesterday. It is believed the entente has been re-founded on a basis of common outlook and a common interest.

Public interest now centers on the composition of the allied conference which it has been agreed will be held in London on July 16. It is believed that it will be composed of Mr. MacDonald, M. Herriot, Premier Mussolini of Italy, Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador to the court of St. James, and it is thought to join the league of nations. The Germans, however, are not willing to join unless they are given a place

Lloyd George in the house of commons this afternoon, said it was important that America be represented at the conference. He added that as soon as the Dawes report was put into operation discussion would be arranged between England and France on the subject of interrelated debts and other outstanding matters.

Study Form of Bid to U. S.
The form of the invitation to America is now exercising British and French diplomats. The United States has refused invitations to participate so often that they do not wish to expose themselves to another snub. It is also felt that an invitation coming at the beginning of the presidential campaign might embarrass the administration.

It is probable that the situation may be solved by informing the American ambassador that he will be welcome to come either as a delegate or as an observer of any one else that America might care to send.

- Q. Can the owner of a house already built derive any of the advantages of heat insulation?
- A. Indeed he can. By applying insulation either over the second floor ceiling joists or between the roof rafters.
- Q. What will this do for him?
- A. Since the greatest heat losses are through the roof, it will save considerable fuel. It will also make his house cooler in summer.
- Q. What is the best material for this purpose?
- A. BALSAM-WOOL, because it is efficient, economical and easy to apply.

Balsam-Wool

A blanketing material for the walls, roofs and ceilings of houses. A heat insulator and a sound absorber. A fast cover and a comfort and health factor that should be built into every house. A waterproofing material. See your lumber dealer.

on the council and this the allies are not ready to concede at this time.

France's Hands Tied on Russia.
Another question very lightly touched on at the conference was the question of the recognition of the soviet by France and in this connection an interesting bit of information comes from France to the fact that M. Herriot's hands are tied by a pact between former Premier Poincare and Secretary of State Hughes. According to the informant, in March of this year, M. Poincare and Mr. Hughes, acting through Ambassador Jusserand, bound themselves not to recognize the soviet without previous consultation as to the exact wording of the recognition. Furthermore they agreed not to alter their policy towards Russia without preliminary mutual consent.

This pact was so strictly carried out that when Mr. MacDonald informed M. Poincare of the Anglo-soviet conference in London, the former French premier replied that if French experts were invited a refusal would not necessarily follow. Mr. Hughes is said to have pointed out that this was contrary to the agreement and he advised M. Poincare to insist on a policy of nonintercourse.

One Wife's Way of Winning an Argument with Husband
After an all day "moonshine" party in a flat at 454 East 37th street, Leo Wilkinson, 37, quarreled with his wife, Emma, both colored. She shot and killed him. She said that he "ought to have known better than to try and win an argument with me."

A NEW Five Passenger LANDAU

This new Five Passenger Landau, a striking addition to the V-63 line, will appeal particularly to those who desire a closed car of marked individuality.

The comfortable Cadillac-Fisher Body is of new and special design. Nicked radiator and lamps, contrasting smartly with the distinctive Magic Green finish, add a pleasing touch to a car of exceptional beauty.

The famous harmonized V-Type eight-cylinder engine, Cadillac Four-Wheel Brakes, and other advanced features of the standard V-63 chassis bespeak the very utmost in performance.

The New Five Passenger Landau lists at $3650, f. o. b. Detroit—but it is the superb quality of the car, the fact that it is a V-63 Cadillac, which makes this price important.

VAGRANT 'RHODY' SENATE RESTS IN MASSACHUSETTS

Rutland, Mass., June 23.—The twenty-one Rhode Island Republican state senators, whose presence in a body at the Hotel Bartlett here came to light this morning, were tonight settled down for a long stay, declaring that only a satisfactory guarantee by Gov. William S. Flynn of their personal safety would induce them to return to their home state and its legislative halls, from which they were driven last Thursday by bromine gas. Two of the senators were accompanied here by their wives.

The senators have for several days been scattered in small groups about Massachusetts. Their desire to be together to discuss developments and make plans led them here to gather under one roof, they said tonight.

Tonight in a long statement they revived the stormy session of the Rhode Island legislature dating from Jan. 1. They accused Lieut. Gov. Toupin, Democrat, of bringing about conditions that blocked state business and the breaking up of the legislature.

The statement charged that he had encouraged disorder and "has called to his aid a disorderly, vicious, and threatening mob... thugs, gunmen, and representatives of all the disorderly elements of the community. The lieutenant governor has openly stated that the next time the members who constitute a quorum of the senate appear there they will be killed."

The statement concludes: "We feel that the best interests of the state require that we should bring this situation squarely before its people by abstaining from attendance in the senate until such time as we receive adequate assurances that orderly and constitutional methods of parliamentary procedure will be restored."

ITALIAN KING TO HELP MUSSOLINI REBUILD POWER

Plans Talk to Allay Nation's Fears.
BY VINCENT SHEEHAN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.]
ROME, June 23.—King Victor Emmanuel will respond in parliament to the address to the throne with a message to the nation calling for peace and public order. It was announced today. This will be the first time since 1859 that the head of the house of Savoy has made such a move, and the only time in the history of United Italy.

The significance of the step is seen in Premier Mussolini's determination to restore confidence and tranquility to the country. The personal influence of the king will do more in this direction, according to responsible authorities, than any number of Black Shirts on parade.

The political situation is in a state of anxious waiting for the king's address to the nation tomorrow, when he is expected to give the clearest indication of what he intends to do with the Fascist militia.

Black Shirts Chief to Go.
It seems hardly likely that Gen. Debono can remain as chief of the Black Shirts after the evidence revealed during the last two days in the kidnapping and murder of the millionaire socialist deputy, Matteotti. It is reported that Gen. Gardiano, chief of staff, will assume command of the Fascist militia, which could only mean another step towards the dissolution of that organization, which is commonly recognized as having served out its usefulness.

Decides to Cleanse Fascism.
As the opposition continually pointed out, Mussolini had two courses to choose from. The first would be a coup d'état with the abolishing of parliament and the establishing of an absolute dictatorship by force. His second course was a purification of Fascism, the ruthless punishment of criminal extremists, and the abolition of some of its more illegal organizations.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that he has definitely chosen the latter course and he will announce it to the nation tomorrow.

Cesare Rossi, head of the press bureau in the department of the interior, was examined for nearly six hours today. The Regina Coeli prison contains ten Fascist charged with Matteotti's abduction and murder, being: Rossi, Filippelli, Volpi, Dumini, Patato, Naldi, Gafani, Luigi, and Giuseppe Vizza, and Danzuso.

Now this NEW luncheon recipe is going over the whole country, most amazingly

It's one of those "different things"—simple yet unusual—that every now and then becomes a vogue over night; a new, quick-cooked luncheon, with an oddly refreshing appeal. A woman sent us the recipe. Then, we asked 50 others to try it—and that is how it started. You may like it, too. Clip this from the paper and try it.

Ingredients: 2 cups QUICK QUAKER, 4 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 level tablespoons cocoa and 4 of sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.
Bring water to a boil. Add cocoa and sugar mixed to a paste with boiling water; then slowly stir in the oats. Cook 3 to 5 minutes. Add vanilla. Serve hot or cold with cream. Wonderful chilled, moulded and served in slices.

EXPERTS FAVOR NEW BOULEVARD FOR WEST SIDE

Proposals for a new through street on the west side will come before the Chicago Plan commission today when it holds its fourteenth annual meeting to review its accomplishments for a "better Chicago" plan for future improvements.

Kinball avenue is suggested as a new north and south through street to complete an entire route extending from the west side boulevard system at Palmer Square to Wignetta. Kinball avenue needs only to be opened for two blocks between Milwaukee and Wellington avenues. In the event this would mean a boulevard drive from Thirty-first street to

Proposals for a new through street on the west side will come before the Chicago Plan commission today when it holds its fourteenth annual meeting to review its accomplishments for a "better Chicago" and plans for future improvements.

Kimball avenue is suggested as the new north and south through street. It would complete an entire route extending from the west side boulevard system to Palmer Square to Wignetta, Kimball avenue needs only to be opened up two blocks between Milwaukee and Wellington avenues. In the city this would mean a boulevard from Thirty-first street to the north limits connecting with the McCormick road along the north shore channel of the sanitary canal.

Cost Comparatively Small.

Ordinarily it is the policy of the commission not to start new improvements until those under way are nearer completion, but the benefits of the Kimball avenue extension, it is pointed out, greatly offset the comparatively small cost.

In the fourteen years since the Commercial club presented the "Chicago plan," the commission points proudly to fourteen major accomplishments for making Chicago better and bigger. These will be reviewed by Chairman Charles H. Wacker in his annual report at the Hotel Sherman meeting. Each year has marked the accomplishment of some one project in the Chicago plan.

The four outstanding projects referred to with particular pride are:

1. Development of a quadrangle of wide streets around the central business district designed to cut present downtown street congestion in half.
2. The railroad developments on the west and south sides of the Union station and Illinois Central.

3. The lake front and harbor development.

4. The forest preserve system.

Other Projects Pending.

Ten or twelve resolutions for future activities will be presented by the executive committee today. These, it is said, will include recommendations for measures to increase the financial powers of Chicago, the bonded indebtedness of which compares equally with such cities as Des Moines, Ia., and the village of Oak Park.

A population equaling that of these towns drops into Chicago every three years.

DEATH WINS IN WOMAN'S FIGHT AGAINST DRUGS

Violet Pinkerton, 33 years old, stenographer and law student, was found dead yesterday morning at 5618 South Prairie avenue from an overdose of morphine. It had not been such a big dose, but Violet had just returned from a narcotic cure, and her system rebelled.

Her death came at the close of what she thought had been a successful fight against the drug habit, and on the eve of her remarriage to Elmer Anderson, a government narcotic agent, who had paid the expense of her treatment.

There have been several cases which the girl took to fight the habit she had acquired before she met her former husband and married him four years ago. It was during a relapse into the habit that she divorced Anderson, whose relatives had objected to his marriage.

MEANS TESTIFIES OF RUM BRIBES PAID JESS SMITH

New York, June 23.—(Special)—Gaston B. Means, former special agent of the department of justice today completed his direct testimony before Federal Judge C. E. Wolverton and a jury and implied that Jess Smith, close friend of President Harding and former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, committed suicide because he feared indictment for grand larceny growing out of alleged whiskey graft.

Means swore Smith killed himself the day after he, Means, and his assistant, Elmer W. Jarnecke, refused to act as Smith's agents in the restitution of $21,000 which, Means testified, Smith was anxious to return to certain persons who had given the money in expectation of whiskey withdrawal permits.

Means and Jarnecke are on trial on the charge of conspiring to violate the prohibition laws in that they accepted bribes to withdraw whiskey illegally.

To EUROPE Just in Time -

Sail in July

Just in time for the height of the season. Not too early—before events have gathered pace. Not too late—after things have begun to slow down. Just in time for the real whirl. For the British Empire Exhibition—Olympic Games—the fashion openings in Paris—the social season at the Lido, Deauville, Ostend. For the best of everything European!

The Height of the Season

And you sail at the right time. Ships are uncrowded—just the right number of people to make the days at sea most agreeable. None of the bustle and rush of the early season to mar the ocean's peace. And you spend the summer's hottest days on breeze fanned waters.

A Complete Choice

Twenty-four sailings by our services during July from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal to nine ports of Europe. Accommodations available in all classes with a range of prices to suit any purse.

Three Weekly Services

The Magnificent Trio—Majestic, world's largest ship and holder of the speed record to Europe, Olympic and Homeric to Cherbourg (France) and Southampton (England). Fast oil-burners.

The Big Four—Adriatic, Baltic, Cedric and Cedric to Queenstown (Cobb) and Liverpool.

Joint service of the Red Star and Atlantic Transport Lines to London, calling eastbound at Cherbourg. New steamers Minnewaukie, Minnetonka, Belgenland and the famous Lapland. Largest ships to enter the Thames.

For complete information apply to 127 South State Street, Chicago, or any authorized steamship agent.

Cruises—Winter 1924-5

Around the World. On the Red Star Line Belgenland, largest and most luxurious ship to circle the globe. From New York Dec. 4, 1924, to 60 dates in 14 countries. 133 days.

To the Mediterranean

White Star Line Adriatic Jan. 7; Feb. 26, 1925. Red Star Line Lapland Jan. 17; Mar. 7, 1925. Duration 47 days. 12,164 miles.

To the West Indies

White Star Line Megantic to the islands of the Caribbean, Panama Canal and Havana. From New York Jan. 22; Feb. 25, 1925. Duration 30-31 days.

To Havana and California. Panama Pacific liners via Havana and Panama Canal. Sailings every fortnight. Largest, fastest ships on coast to coast routes.

Generous Sox Hand Indians

Double Victory, 4-3 and 4-1

By Irving Vaughan. Giving out hit after hit in its place, but it caused about 10,000 Comiskey park patrons a severe pain yesterday. The White Sox, generous to an extreme, handed the Indians a double victory in the first half of a double bill and virtually forced a win on the Cleveland Indians by 4 to 3. Then they tried to repeat themselves, but didn't have a look in, and when they knocked out for the day they had nothing but the useless end of a 4 to 1 score.

Aside from the fact that the double does was a hollow jolt for the Sox, the proceedings did much to gum up the pennant race. The Indians' twin achievement lifted them from seventh to fifth place, where they are only three games behind the pennant-winning Tigers. Naturally the Sox had to drop, so they slid into the seventh notch, but they're only four and one-half games out of first place.

Luck Goes Against Faber. The outcome of the first game rubbed all the luster off the comeback of Urban "Red" Faber. The big pitcher, in his first start of the season, pitched well enough despite numerous hits, but the ever necessary luck was lacking. The first two runs of his result from the subtlest kind of his. The two other Indian tallies were brewed from garden variety of errors.

The afterpiece was something else again. Doug McWeeny endeavored to pitch, in his first start of the season, pitched well enough despite numerous hits, but the ever necessary luck was lacking. I need money and I'm going to get it regardless of the loss I take. I have the finest stock of $80, $85 and $90 Spring and Summer woollens in the city and I'm proud of them. But my new Fall goods are arriving daily and I must clear my shelves in order to put them on display. I not only need the room but, as I said before, I must get the money to pay for these new goods.

So I'm holding a $35 Sale. That means that this entire stock of fine Spring and Summer woollens is here for your choice at a give-away price. I'm taking orders for genuine $80, $85 and $90 Suits made to order, with extra pants free, for only $35. Every suit is guaranteed to be made first class, just as if you paid me the full prices.

Storm Shows Course.

Sunday's storm clouded up the course,

but it was in pretty fair shape, although it required some punch to get the ball up to the cup on the greens.

Hagen, American champion in 1914 and 1915 and tied for second in 1921, took the British honors in 1922. Jim Barnes was our open champion in 1921 and Gene

Sarazen in 1922. Way back in 1910,

when a comparative youngster, Mac-

STORM HAILED AS WARNING ON CITY SANITATION

Full Canal Flow Called Best Safeguard.

Keep on boiling the water! Cleanse the basement!

(Picture on back page.) After the storm warnings were issued yesterday, one was by the health department, concerning the immediate danger of typhoid fever. The other was by President William J. Healy of the sanitary district, pointing out the future peril to the city unless the government allows continued diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan.

The Chicago river momentarily had reversed its flow during Sunday's downpour of rain, President Healy said, and it was only the pumping of 10,000 cubic feet per second that prevented all the sewage from the north branch of the sanitary canal from polluting the drinking water. As it was, he said, there was no contamination of the North Side's water.

Sanitary district engineers reported that the 27th street pumping station did not "back up" and flow fifth into the lake. The Calumet river did, however, distributing sewage from Indiana into Chicago's drinking supply.

Source of Danger. The greatest danger was to the residents of Hyde Park and the vicinity served by the Sixty-eighth street crib, officials reported, due to the Calumet river overflow. This, President Healy and Engineer George Whiner said, was due to the refusal of the government to permit the sanitary district to dredge that river.

The heavy fall of nearly 1 1/2 inches of rain in an hour so filled the Chicago river that for a time the menace to health was grave, according to the officials, who then ordered the drawing of the full amount of lake water temporarily permitted by the law to be used by the sanitary district.

"The reversal of the current," President Healy explained.

Fears for Sanitation. "What would have happened if we had been limited to lake withdrawal of 4,167 feet of water?"

Under a court decision that is all the water that legally may be taken from the lake for sewage disposal, owing to the objections of Canada and some water power companies, he explained, and the matter is now up to the Supreme court on appeal and the war department to either confirm that decision or to nullify it in the interest of Chicago's health.

"There would have been no current," President Healy answered his own question. "If we dared only take 4,167 feet, the water could not be carried into the drainage canal quickly enough and all the sewage would have been forced into the lake and an epidemic of typhoid fever would follow."

U. S. BOARD HEARS ARGUMENTS ON PITTSBURGH PLUS

Washington, D. C., June 23.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh plus system of quoting steel prices was denounced as a discriminatory, monopolistic and unfair method of competition in final arguments today before the federal trade commission. K. V. Steinhauer, attorney for the commission, who has acted as prosecutor in the case, and H. G. Pickering of Superior, Wis., attorney for the Western Association of Rolled Steel Consumers, which has led the fight for the abolition of the Pittsburgh plus system, argued for the issuance of a cease and desist order. Attorneys for the U. S. Steel corporation commenced arguments in defense of the Pittsburgh plus system tonight and will continue tomorrow.

That Pittsburgh plus greatly increases the cost of steel to the farmer who purchases farm implements was contended by Mr. Steinhauer.

Mr. Steinhauer presented charts illustrating the effect of Pittsburgh plus in restricting the markets of western fabricators of steel. Pittsburgh fabricators, Mr. Steinhauer said, even have the advantage over Chicago fabricators as far west as the Pacific coast.

80 IN BOAT CRASH MAKE CHAIN UP STARVED ROCK

Aurora, Ill., June 23.—Up the face of the great stone height on the Illinois river, near Ottawa, Ill., which is called Starved Rock, eighty men and women crawled inch by inch yesterday after a storm that drove against the bottom of the cliff and overturned their motor launch.

A young man, active and muscular, led the way up the wall, finding here and there stout roots to grasp and natural steps in the hillside that afforded a foothold.

He reached down after the next man, who, in turn, helped the person behind, the whole party making a chain.

Two of the links in the chain were 200 pound women, and one was a woman who had a 3 months' old baby. It was passed up the chain from person to person.

The ascent of several hundred feet took almost half an hour.

Among the climbers from this vicinity were State Representative John Hart and Mrs. Hart of Aurora; Miss Mary Hart and Dan Cahill of Batavia, Ill.; Miss Margaret Morrissey of Oak Park and Miss Mary Hedlin of Chicago.

Mrs. John C. Mechem Gives Pony 70 Mile Ride in Her Flivver

BY PANDORA.

An amusing story of feminine ingenuity is being told over the tea tables this week. It seems that the four children of the John C. Mechems wanted a pony. And as there is plenty of room on the Mechems' charming place at Geneva, Ill., for four children and a pony, Mrs. Mechem decided she would grant their wish.

Not long ago, she heard there was a nice little black pony for sale in Waukegan. Its name was Curly and it had nice little circus manners. It could shake hands, it could do all the tricks necessary to satisfy four children.

So Mrs. Mechem drove her Ford sedan to survey the prize. She bought it. And then she found herself confronted with the problem of getting it back to Geneva. Curly couldn't run behind the motor car. There were difficulties about shipping the new pet. Yet something had to be done.

Necessity being the mother of invention, and Mrs. Mechem the mother of four, she thought of a plan, and promptly put it into action. She coaxed the pony into the sedan, tied the pony cart on behind, and drove home in a journey of nearly seventy miles!

Having been a circus pony, Curly seemed not at all surprised by such a novel mode of travel. In fact, I've heard that he was a most docile and agreeable passenger, taking in the countryside with the bland glance of a man of the world, one who has been "most everywhere" and seen "most everything." The cart bounced occasionally, not being circus trained, but the trip was accomplished safely and hilariously.

Our Summer Wrap-sody in the Key of Flannel

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—So many of these summer wrap-sodys are written in the key of flannel. The separate coat, for example, which we choose to top off our sports costumes is often of this material. Sometimes it is in plain color and sometimes it is in the fashionable plaid effect. Always it is to be commended. And then, of course, there is the endless tribe of jackets, both sleeveless and sleeved. If these are not of flannel, it indicates only one thing—the manufacturer was just out of flannel.

It is not only the separate wrap, but as the adhesive wrap, that this fabric vaults to its highest point of prominence. The flannel costume consisting of frock and three-quarter coat—here is one of the most insistent of all fashion theories. Less frequent, but equally impressive, are those ensembles which place a three-quarter flannel coat in correspondence with a flannel skirt and crepe de chine blouse or tunic.

It is to the latter group that is affixed the model inspiring today's illustration. Here we have the familiar wrap executed in white flannel piped with powder blue in self-material. True to the best tradition, the collar of this wrap is in clipped white crepe. The skirt glimpsed underneath is one of the circular versions with which we are now familiarized. If, too, is in white flannel, and the middie blouse accompanying it is of white crepe de chine. This latter is sleeveless and it is fitted about the hips with a deep

In passing one must remark upon the popularity of the jumper blouse in today's sports models. So sustained, in fact, is the favor with which the jumper is regarded that several noted Paris designers have even incorporated the jumper in the formal evening gown.

First Concert at Ravinia First Class in Every Respect

BY EDWARD MOORE.

In considering a place to pass the time on the Monday nights that are to come this summer, why not think of the concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Ravinia? Eric DeLamarter began the summer series last night, and judging by his inaugural, he is going to have a successful term.

For that matter, one gets a different idea of the music.

Any way, here is a first class orchestra with a first class conductor to direct and first class soloists to appear, and no one takes stock in any nonsense about the sinfulness of encores.

Mr. DeLamarter played an extra number after Mendelssohn's Italian symphony, a number chosen, no doubt, out of deference to the general trend of the first week's opera list.

Merle Alcock, a dusky beauty with a quality beautiful contralto voice, sang two encores after the "Samson and Delilah" aria. Jacques Gordon, concert master of the orchestra and the second soloist, had his turn later along in the program. So altogether it was about as agreeable an evening as any would be likely to find.

Aida will be sung tonight, with Florence Easton, the Bonurkaya, Giovanni Martinelli, Giuseppe Danise, Virgilio Lazzari, Louis D'Angelo in the leading parts. Papi will conduct.

Catholic Foresters Meeting.

The executive board of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters will hold its regular quarterly meeting in the national office of the Cumard building today and for the remainder of the week. The board will discuss finances and will invest $250,000 in municipal bonds.

For instance, the man with the full round face will want to avoid combing his hair over to the side, whether he parts it in the middle or on the side. The reason for this is that hair parted in the middle and combed at right angles to the part line gives another straight across line to the face, accentuating its fullness instead of breaking it up.

Instead, the hair should be combed straight back, as that would simply carry out the line of his face and make it seem longer and thinner than it really is. Whether parted on the side or in the middle, this man should comb it across his head to shorten his face.

Bright Sayings of the Children

One evening, while putting my hair up on curlers, my nephew happened to

"Aunt, does curls hatch at night?" he asked.

Beth's older brother had the habit of saying, "Make it snappy," when he wanted some one to hurry.

When they sat down to the dinner table Beth folded her hands for the blessing, then turned and said: "Make it 'snappy,' daddy, I'm hungry." A. P.

The New York Times.

New York, June 23.—(Special)—It was exactly to have been expected that financial markets with a speculative following would have resumed their advance on the eve of the second of the presidential nominating conventions, especially when no human being, whether politician or plain citizen, had any confident idea of its outcome.

Uncertainties stimulate the stock exchange, but their influence on the course of prices will usually depend on the direction in which prices had been moving beforehand. Since the movement has been late in coming, it was quite in line with experience that today's prices should have declined.

Changes Only Fractional.
The decline was not noteworthy. In most of the markets changes were only fractional. Except when considered as reaction from an advance which had spent its force or as a discreet withdrawal to await entirely unknown developments, it was difficult to say what ideas or expectations the markets were entertaining. Probably the best explanation was that real investment buying had for the time suspended its activities and that professional speculators had resumed their own experiments. So far as the drift of financial opinion can be judged, the political outlook is regarded as more reassuring from the conservative viewpoint than a week or two ago, and as much less disturbing than it seemed to be a few months ago.

Business Below Average.
The business done on the stock exchange today was much below the recent average. Even shares which declined a point or more lost their ground in most instances on small transactions, and fewer bonds changed hands than on any full day in nearly three weeks. United States government bonds showed signs of renewing the advance which was interrupted a week ago, since which time some of them had lost 1/4% point from their highest prices. Foreign loans and home company bondings were also rather conspicuously firm—perhaps an unnatural result when the governing influence on the bond market is not the uncertainty of politics, but what now seem to be the certainties of the season's money market.

M. H. Karker Elected

Jewel Tea Co. President

The board of directors of the Jewel Tea company yesterday elected M. H. Karker president of the company, effective July 1. Mr. Karker is now a vice president. The board also created the position of chairman of the board, to which John M. Hancock, now president, was elected. Mr. Hancock will become a partner of Lehman Brothers, but will devote a part of his time to the affairs of the Jewel Tea company.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter prices were firm in all the leading markets on Monday, with a moderate trade. There was no change in prices of eggs or live poultry, while the market for new potatoes was firm with receipts of 60 cars. The season for old is fast drawing to a close with only 10 cars in.

Moderate supplies of berries other than strawberries moved off readily while receipts of strawberries were 10,500 cases, practically all Michigan and many poor conditions, so that sales were at concessions in prices.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Persistent selling of Atlantic Refining, which fell nearly 10 points to a new 1924 low at 84 1/2, was one of the features of yesterday's stock market. Liquidation in this stock, which had sold as high as 140 early this year, was based on unconfirmed reports that the company was making arrangements for a short term note issue of $15,000,000. Weakness of this issue, combined with another series of gasoline price cuts, brought fresh selling into the other oils, but the net losses in nearly all cases were held to a point or less.

Among the so-called pivotal stocks, American Oil dropped more than 2 points to 106 1/2, Baldwin sagged 1 1/2 to 111, and Standard and United States Steel common each eased 1/4, the last named closing at 95 1/2.

Considerable profit taking took place in a number of the specialties which had recorded large gains last week, losses of 1 to nearly 4 points being registered by General Electric, Du Pont, Schutte National, United States Industrial Alcohol, National Lead, National Radium, and Pullman.

Rails gave ground with the rest of the list, but not until after new high prices for the year had been established by Nickel Plate, Southern railway, Erie second preferred, Pure Margarine preferred, and Western Pacific, most of which, however, closed at slight losses on the day. Union Pacific, New Haven, Norfolk and Western dropped 1 1/2 to 101 1/2, while Gulf, Mobile and Northern preferred dropped 3/4.

Public utilities were firm, with new peak prices being attained by Montana Power, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit common and preferred, North American preferred, and American Water Works 7 per cent preferred. On the other hand, Cuyamaca, Pitt, Otis Elevator, and General Refractories touched new lows, the last named showing a net loss of 6 points at 36 after having sold as low as 34 1/2.

Stock prices displayed a heavy tone in the curb market. There was some liquidation of the oil shares, but the net losses as a rule were small. Industrials and public utilities showed mixed changes, one of the features being the strength of the McGraw-Hill stock, which advanced 1/2 point to 102 1/2. Heaviness was noted in Durant Motors, United Gas and Electric, Oilfield Safety Razor, and Adirondack National, which lost one to three points. National Tea established another new high at 108 and then fell back to 102.

At the lowest point of the year. The latter sold largely at $2,000,000, with best light quoted at $5.75. Market for feeding lambs continued slow at weak to lower prices, best "sorts" to country buyers bringing $12.00.

Eleven western markets received $7,000 cattle, 150,000 hogs, and 45,000 sheep, against 65,000 cattle, 115,000 hogs, and 49,000 sheep the previous Monday, and 64,000 cattle, 119,000 hogs, and 34,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 22,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep, against 8,859 cattle, 22,758 hogs, and 4,333 sheep the corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Why Safety of Principal First?

SAFETY of principal is more important than all the other elements of investment put together.

This should be plain to anyone; but the fact that Americans lose hundreds of millions yearly in so-called "securities" that are worthless indicates how much the public has yet to learn.

Taking chances for the sake of large possible gains is not the function of true investment. Large gains are almost always accompanied by correspondingly great risks. One of the important objects of true investment is the reduction of risk to a minimum—the constant safeguarding of capital. Only by the exercise of continuous care can the investor's savings be kept intact for productive purposes and the investor assured a dependable income.

Most people are born with a grasping nature. A man wants to make all he can. The temptation to put income first and safety second is strong. For this reason every investor should keep the "safety of principal first" idea constantly in mind for his own protection.

If this is important to the investor, it is vastly more so to the investment banking house. For the most valuable assets of such a house,—possessions without which it could not do business,—are its good reputation and the lasting confidence of its clientele.

Early in its development this organization adopted the motto "Safety of Principal is Our First Consideration." As a guide to sound investment practice we hold it in importance above all others.

Many investors take advantage of the numerous free services we render in respect to the safe-keeping of securities, tax and statistical information, coupon collections, etc. For the convenience of investors of small means we sell conservative securities on monthly payments. Upon request we shall be pleased to give details regarding these services.

Reservations for government, municipal and corporation bonds may be made at present market prices for July delivery.

MILWAUKEE

EMANCIPATION OF WOMAN IS LAID TO INVENTORS

BY SCRUTATOR.

Traffic was blocked for a few minutes yesterday morning on south Lauro street.

There was a mighty chorus of motor horns as a long line of cars decked with posters and bunting filed across the other lines of traffic.

Fresh from the morning's headlines about the untimely death of the writer had a momentary mental relapse to the old days of red fire, torchlight parades, fights, crowds of throngs, and the cross of gold. Surely here was a rally to save the country from somebody.

Closer inspection revealed that it was a salesman's picnic on the way to country air. On the prow of each auto was fastened a strange device—not so strange here, but almost unknown in most of the world. It was one of the numerous electrical machines which have driven grogged from the home.

The well-dressed women and the kids who packed the cars were themselves a first class testimonial to the efficacy of what had for sale.

The parade brought on quite a train of thought. Among the questions which presented themselves were whether the time is ripe for some scholar to write a history of the United States from the archive of the patent office. Social transformations and more uplift have been concocted there, than in all the conventions that ever met. The present trend of political conventions and other assemblages is to curtail the sort of social uplift that has flowed from inventive effort and experiment.

The world has heard a great deal of feminism in recent years. The real promoters of women's emancipation have been men like Edison, who Tesla, Steinmetz, and a host of others, who hardly had time to know what the word meant, so busy were they in putting over the fact.

Next to the inventors the capitalists—the men who have—have been responsible, and their responsibility will continue.

In the one item of improving the American home, the need for more and more capital and the better use of money may be discerned in terms of every day life.

We have had a great deal to say of our achievements in this respect, but just as interesting is a view of what remains to be done.

Leaving out the millions of farm homes, the improvements of which present one of the biggest practical problems ahead of us, there are yet 8,000,000 homes within reach of central electric stations which have not been wired. This means that the electrical industry, as at present constituted, has 8,000,000 potential customers. Investors in public utility stocks and bonds will find renewed assurance in that fact.

According to a survey by the Electrical World, the wiring of these 8,000,000 homes will mean the sale of 4,000,000 vacuum cleaners, 2,000,000 electric fans, 2,617,539 washing machines, 14,515 electric ranges, 120,449 ironing machines, 100,007 dish washing machines, and 210,951 electric sewing machines.

KIDNAP G

Seized Taking D
Ransom Paro

A second attempt to victimize Robert Franks, father of 14, failed last night as two squads of detectives searched for the 18 year old boy, who was demanding $5,000.

They were seized a few minutes after the father of the slain placed a decoy package at a house on the fringe of Chicago's bad lands.

Recalls Letter to Hughes. Immediately Chief of Detectives Hughes took them into his questioning to determine whether three youths had anything to do with the letter. Other extortion letters received by prominent Chicagoans.

Latest of these demands for $5,000 was received only last Saturday by Hines, millionaire lumberman.

The letter came to the Franks at 8052 Ellis avenue at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Crudely written, it carried no signature, it was Frank's that his 17 year old son, Josephine, would be kidnapped. The money, in denominations of $100 and $200, was to be wrapped in a package and dropped in a barrel at the corner of Elston and Division street at 9 o'clock.

The usual threat of Mr. Franks is gone he notified the police.

In a suggested the famous ransom sent the father by Nathan L. and Richard Loeb, scarcely a month ago, after they had murdered Robert.

Franks Appeals to P. Mr. Franks promptly notified of Detectives Hughes. The stricken Lieut. Hugh McClellan, Albert Wingo to the squad to the designated thoroughly familiarize them with the neighborhood. Hiding to be picked and plans laid the authors of the letter.

"Are you willing to take package there tonight?" asked.

"I am," was the reply. "I could frighten me after all through."

Father Goes to S. At 9 o'clock Mr. Franks emerged from the shadows haunt Goose island. It is region which long ago early pellation of "Little Hell," the tough citizens who about.

As Division street crosses of the river it slips into a coal burners and gas lamps are dim and far between gas tanks loom beside a which belches fire at all day and night. The air is times.

Mr. Franks crossed the posted a mission which at intersection of Elston and dropped the parcel at a one by coal yard fences. The specified that he must hurry away, and Mr. Franks it to the letter.

Letter Writers Tr. A few minutes passed the ambushed detectives persons hurriedly cross the pick up the package. To leave, but the next policemen sprang from covered them with revolvers. The prisoners gave the names:

IGNATIUS CROMBOR. Racine avenue.
WALTER DERUS, and
WALTER BORGCA, 100
The boys quickly admitted the letter. On Monday afternoon, they went into a near Borgca's home and old Marie Bolger to look for address in the telephone.

Borgca Tells of Writing. "Then we bought some an envelope," Borgca said up to my room to write the mailed it about 11 o'clock night."

Chief Hughes placed the safe last night and refused its contents public. He autographed at its author. They had evidently figured that Mr. Franks would after the ordeal he had paid in the last five weeks rather lose the money (Continued on page 10)
